WE NOMINATE

William Lewis Wilson, a statesman in Princeton public affairs for almost two decades, whose retirement from the Princeton Township Committee at year's end will bring expressions of gratitude and dismay from Democrats and Republicans alike. A locally active Democrat, who has often broken verbal lances with the 60-year old Wilson, has put it this way: "The thing that strikes you about this able Republican is the fact that although you may have disagreed with him at one time or another you have never doubted his integrity and have always respected his stance, knowing that it had been carefully and conscientiously thought out."

A native of Philadelphia, and a resident of Princeton since 1949, Wilson is the one Princetonian ever to have achieved the distinction of serving as a Mayor of Princeton and as President of a major public school board. Prior to his initial election to Township Committee in 1962, and his elevation to the post of Mayor in 1961, Wilson had completed six strenuous years (1951-60) on the Township's Board of Education, including three years as President during the period the Township was creating the splendid physical plant that was to help make the Princeton Regional School District economically feasible.

Described by a colleague as "never one to slow down or slack off," Wilson has brought an unusual, and refreshing, spirit to public life: he has approached each of his innumerable assignments, ranging from mundane subcommittees to police and financial crises in Township Hall, as a challenge and, in retrospect, is surprised by "how little time I seem to have given." And his Princeton record also shows two terms on the Township Planning Board, service as an elder of the First Presbyterian Church and extended duty on the Board of Trustees of the Princeton Public Library, for which he was the first building committee chairman for the "new" Witherspoon Street structure.

Following graduation from Dartmouth in 1931 with Phi Beta Kappa honors, and a stint of graduate study at the University of Pennsylvania Wilson embarked upon a journalistic career that brought recognition as a topnotch reporter with the Philadelphia "Daily News" and South Jersey weeklies. He switched to the entwined fields of public and industrial relations, became a key officer of such firms as Republic Aviation Corporation and Kellogg Aircraft and in 1916, while still commuting from the Philadelphia Main Line to New York, was named to his present post, vice president for public relations and advertising of the mammoth C.I.T. Financial Corporation and its 17 subsidiaries.

Wilson and his wife, the former Edna F. Molinoux, who were members of the same debating team at the Upper Merion (Pa.) High School, share deep convictions about community service. In her quietly effective way, Mrs. Wilson, a Trustee of Princeton Hospital, has in myriad activities done for the Hospital all her husband has accomplished in other areas. Somehow or other, through it all, Wilson has found time to remain an ardent and knowing sports buff, taking particular pleasure in Dartmouth's football successes and bringing to the 6th Flight Championship at Springdale Golf Club the same enthusiasm a younger golfer might take to the New Jersey Amateur Tournament.

For his devotion to the best interests of the Princeton Community; for seeking to strengthen the traditions of volunteer public service in an era when all too often the first question asked is "What's in it for me?"; for relishing what he once called "opportunities for services," he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

CHRISTMAS DEBATED
How Much in Schools? Decorations in Princeton public schools are a tender and uneasy subject this Christmas.
It was back in October that a group of parents, disturbed by what they regarded as over-emphasis on Christmas, presented their case at the agenda meeting of the school board.
The board, in Princeton fashion, promptly appointed a committee. Henry Powsner and William Marvel. They decided to get more citizens to gather and talk it over.

On December 3, they did.
About 40 people came, including the Rev. Robert Cope, president of the Princeton Pastors Association, four or five students, teachers, administrators and parents.
"There were people who wanted to preserve religion in the schools and those who wanted to protect minorities," Dr. Powsner says, "and also those who were concerned about the education of kids."

Princeton, Dr. Powsner believes, "isn't the kind of town where parents want prayers in school or anything like that."
The idea is — sensitivity to minorities.
Board policy says schools aren't "appropriate places for religious observances," but it's all right for children to study the historic development of religions.

What does this mean, in terms of a lighted Christmas tree on the school lawn and Santa Claus in every window?
What it does NOT mean, emphasizes Dr. Powsner, is "Get religion out of the schools by December 25."

In the schools this year, decorations are at a minimum or not there at all, except in an isolated classroom here and there. Some parents are very unhappy about this, and many have telephoned Dr. Powsner — and other board members
— to complain.
One irate parent said his first grader reported that some people came in the room and took away a tree the children had been decorating.
The school principal, the su-

TRUE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT: Vandals chopped down the decorated 26-foot Christmas tree in front of Opinion Research Corporation sometime during the night of December 8. The spruce, a magnificent specimen, has been trimmed with some 300 Christmas lights each year since 1958 and was a holiday landmark on North Harrison Street. At the suggestion of Mrs.
Doris Vanderdell (center) of the ORC staff, the tree was donated to the N.J. Training School for Boys, Skillman.

perintendent, Dr. Powsner and the parent began investigating. In that school, they all discovered independently no teacher had been told to remove a tree. First grader's imagination? Dr. Powsner smiles.

He says that some teachers not clear at all about a school system policy which is relatively broad, have withdrawn their decorations, "and I think this is unfortunate." The possibility suggests itself that the unhappy first grader was a happy when a teacher decided to "withdraw."

Because of the Christmas holidays, TOWN TOPICS

day next week. Accordingly,

Proposal. As a result of October's agenda meeting, four Princeton parents met and prepared a statement on religion in schools. The parents are Philip Carchman, Michael Rockland, Mrs. Ruth Schulman and Ruth Hershel Mutt.
The four parents advocate teaching "about" religion.
"Studying the historical origin, the traditional interpretations of the Christmas tree, the Christmas wreath, the Cross or the Easter egg as part of a study of Christianity is much different from adorning the entrance of the school with one of these . . . or decorating the school as part of an all-school observance of a Christian holiday."

Listening to Christian, Jewish, Muslim, or African music, or having a school chorus sing the songs of these religions, "is much different from having whole classes rise to sing what are, after all, the hymns of a particular religious group."

There is general agreement in the schools on the statement of the four parents. Studying the history of the world's major religions, learning the role of religion in literature, music, politics, education, the arts;
examining the place of religion in contemporary life and the basic beliefs and practices of the various religions — all are suggested in the parents' proposal.

The statement has been taken to the Pastors' Association by the Rev. Mr. Cope, and the Rev. Robert Martin, president of the Interfaith Council, will also examine it.

"I am optimistic that we are moving in the right direction," Dr. Powsner says.

NO SECOND ELECTION

For School System. Princeton won't have a second school election in 1971 and this means that Borough voters won't elect anybody to the school board the following year — in 1972.

In fact, unless special legislation can break the cycle, in every third year, the Borough won't elect a school board representative.

The Princeton Regional School Board Tuesday night couldn't muster the necessary unanimous vote to qualify under the brand-new Schuler law for permission to hold a second 1971 school election.

The vote was 53. Mrs. Evelyn Geddes absent. Winthrop Pike introduced a resolution to clear the way for a second election and William Abrams seconded his introduction. Others voting "yes" were Philip Cruickshank, William Marvel and Mrs. Kathleen Edwards.

That left Robert Bierman, Henry Powsner and John Marks to vote "no."

The crux is that Governor William Cahill hasn't "promulgated" the state's official 1970 census count which will give the Township an extra seat on the board and take one away from the Borough.

Board counsel Thomas Cook said the governor is expected to act "shortly," but cannot until he receives the correct official figures. The county election filing deadline is December 24. If Governor Cahill

The Christmas Fund Needs Your Help

(From the 1970 Town Topics Christmas Appeal)

"Most often it is the inching and grinding paralysis of worry and loneliness and uncertainty, whether forcing 5-year old Molly to cry out in her sleep in the room she shares with her older brothers and sisters, or forcing 60-year old Mrs. X, to withdraw into a shadowy world of her own, that is hard to pinpoint, ever more difficult to resolve. The unseen problems of the individual and the complicated relationships between human beings are crucial matters on which lives can be wrecked beyond salvage — unless somehow or other, they are given the kind of thoughtful assistance and guidance that are even more important than lamp or bright lights, or laughter around the Christmas table."

Your round assistance is provided from the funds raised through the Christmas Appeal, with every penny contributed going to the benefit of those cited in last week's issue. To date, $1,942.26 has been received. Checks should be made payable to THE TOWN TOPICS CHRISTMAS FUND and mailed to P.O. Box 664, Princeton, or brought to 4 Mercer Street.

will act after that deadline, the one seat that will be taken away from the Borough will be the Borough's only available 1972 seat.

The Schuller law allows a school district, after unanimous board approval, to delay its school board election until 60 days after the governor has made his official statement. This 60 day delay would give the county superintendent a chance to re-appoint boards according to the new count.

The single Borough seat currently in the spotlight belongs to Mrs. Kathleen Edwards and board rejection of the Pike resolution means she can't run in 1972.

"I don't care about myself, but I do care that Borough voters won't be able to choose a board member every third year," Mrs. Edwards declared.

Mr. Edwards, Mr. Pike and Dr. Cruickshank, occasionally joined by Mr. Marvel, usually vote on the same side. Dr. Abrams' addition to their ranks for purposes of this vote made an unusual alliance. Dr. Abrams offered to resign now from the board so that Mrs. Edwards could be appointed to his seat and thereby be able to run next year, but Mr. Cook said this was impossible.

Dr. Bierman said he was voting "no" because he didn't think board members acted as Borough or Township residents, but as representatives of a single district, and Dr. Abrams said he couldn't recall any board votes on Borough-Township lines. Dr. Henry Powsner expressed the same views.

It is "imperative" that both Borough and Township have a voice in the election of board members every year, declared Dr. Cruickshank. Mr. Pike pointed out that Borough voters every three years would be voting on a school budget, but not for a community representative.

When Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter from the audience hinted that Borough voters might vote down the budget every third year when no Borough candidate could be voted upon, Dr. Powsner retorted, "I hope the community is more mature than to threaten to defeat the budget."

BUDGET INTRODUCED

Schools Want 5% More. A tentative school budget of $7,403,900 was adopted Tuesday night by the Princeton Regional School Board.

Public hearing will be held Tuesday, January 12, and the board has scheduled another public meeting for January 14 for a final vote on the budget.

It's a 5% increase over last year's, explained finance chairman Winthrop S. Pike at Tuesday's board meeting, and the smallest percentage increase since regionalization. Last year's increase was 13%.

For Princeton's favorite citizen, the owner of a $10,000 house, it will mean about $400 more in taxes if the house is in the Borough, $82 more if it is in the Township.

Before the first of January,

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, BEETHOVEN! Ludwig, as everyone knows, was born 200 years ago on December 16. To commemorate the event, Mrs. Margaret Migliori, of the John Witherspoon P.T.O., constructed life-size instruments from corrugated paper, wire, plaster of Paris and sheer ingenuity. All day long, students come and go in the school's atrium, "playing" while a recording on the amplifying system sounds forth with real Beethoven. (It was the romantic Seventh Symphony when these pictures were taken) That's Wilfred Wright on trombone; the rap bass player is Frances Johnston and the Jacqueline du Pre at the cello is Donna Daryee. All are first-graders.

Mr. Pike hopes Princeton Pherson said he'd give a pro householders will have a progress report at the regular January meeting on January 26.

The budget breaks down to $6,868,300 for Current Expense, $145,000 for Capital Outlay and $395,700 for debt service.

Philosophy. Is there enough money — $17,000 — for behind-the-wheel driver education at the high school? And if so, is that the way $17,000 should be spent? And who should decide?

Drivers' education—the behind-the-wheel kind—served as a starter for a lengthy discussion of priorities and who determines them, and what is the board's role, anyway? Superintendent Philip E. Mc-

Dr. Marks used drivers' ed. to illustrate "the complex problem of decision-making in our schools" and read a long statement detailing his philosophy.

"The (school) board does not have educational expertise, nor is it a quasi-administrative body in the way the Borough Council and Township Committee are. It is a body for review and control," Dr. Marks said.

The board "does not, cannot and should not attempt to know the details of the educational process," but delegates to state-certified experts.

For the Good of All. The board faces a dilemma, he continued: how can it reach decisions that are for the good of the whole community and not just for "particularly strident or vocal lobbies, whether students, staff or citizens?"

High school Principal Florence Burke told the board, "We cannot see our way clear to get the $17,000," but she added that 302 of 745 polled students and 53 of 56 faculty wanted drivers' ed.

Dr. McPherson said a diligent search in the PBS budget accounts might uncover enough money for the program, but Mr. Pike said the $17,000 could well be found elsewhere in the system and didn't necessarily have to come from the high school budget.

Dr. McPherson repeatedly emphasized the "tight budget" voters will pass on February 2. Its tightness has led to extensive evaluation of existing programs and some pruning here and there, he said.

"We're waiting for the school to evaluate priorities and see whether drivers' ed can be fitted in," explained Dr. Marks. "We violate the system the board has set up for priorities if we just add $17,000 to the budget."

When a member of the audience charged it was a "double answer" to say "we want drivers' ed but don't have the money" and said it was "ridiculous" to poll the students when the answer could be predicted. Miss Burke retorted, "We get criticism for not involving students in decisions and criticism when we do."

"Let's give the people involved with the administration a chance to act on this," advised Dr. Bierman, and that's where it was left.

A program report by Dr. Constance Veland of the school system, and Henry Drewry of Princeton University on school University cooperation was left with the board for discussion at the January meeting.

FOOD FOR BOARD?

"Trying to decide," Jeremiah Ford, Princeton architect who lives at 32 Mercer Street, may file one of the Board's two BRT suits on the Princeton Regional School Board.

Mr. Ford said he is "trying to decide" whether to run. He is disturbed by polarization pro administration or anti administration," he stated.

"If I can avoid this polarization, I will run," he said, adding that he did not want to be a "captive" of either the "pro" or "con" extreme.

"I believe a school board member is responsible to the students, the taxpayers, the board and his own conscience," he said.

Mr. Ford has the support of several individuals, he said.

Rhodes to Retire

William H. Rhodes will retire as Assistant to the Superintendent in the Princeton Regional School District as of January 31. Mr. Rhodes served as principal of Princeton High School from 1933 until 1962 when he was appointed Assistant to the Superintendent under Dr. Chester B. Stroup, and as Secretary of the Princeton Borough Board of Education.

Upon regionalization in 1966, he was appointed Custodian of School Minutes while continuing as Assistant to the Superintendent.

"He has always done a fine and careful job and has pulled a heavy load in ways that aren't always visible," said Superintendent Philip E. McPherson.

Praising the quality of Mr. Rhodes' work, associate superintendent Eugene Bringer said, "I will miss him tremendously."

He's on the Way

Santa needs the Bright moonlight
To see that snowflakes
Hang just right.

The bright moonlight of the past few nights won't be here to guide Santa when he comes next week, but the word was out that an early snowfall may make it easier for the rounder.

Winter won't arrive until 6:30 next Tuesday morning, but the Man thinks the white stuff will come before that. In fact, he's calling for just about everything but sunshine this Thursday: snow, sleet, freezing rain — you name it. Colder thereafter, but generally fair through the weekend.

but he declined to identify them.

So far, according to William Evans, school board secretary, only T. C. Allen has actually filed a petition. William W. Marvel, who announced last week that he will seek reelection, hasn't yet filed. He will oppose Mr. Allen for the Township's one available seat. The other announced candidate, Mrs. Hannah Fox, has not yet filed her intention to run for one of the Borough's two available positions.

TAKE BACK YOUR BOTTLE
Mayor. Will the non returnable bottle be banned in Princeton?

The answer may hinge on results of a report scheduled for completion in February by a Township Conservation Commission sub-committee consisting of Commission members: Mr. Sydney B. Penick and Dwight O. North.

The possibility of a ban on these bottles so alarmed one local drunk bottling firm that its Trenton representative telephoned Mrs. Penick, she reported this week, and declared that such legislation would be "discriminatory."

The Princeton Conservation Coalition, an amalgam of conservation groups, asked the Conservation Commission last Wednesday to press for municipal ordinances prohibiting the sale of non returnable bottles in Borough and Township.

Commission members replied that they wanted to study re-cycling in more detail before making such a recommendation to governing bodies.

In other business Wednesday night, the new Commission board members of the Princeton Battleground Area Preservation Society urged the Commission to take a stand preserving.

Lottery Tickets Now on Sale

For those 18 or older, who like to dream of easy money and what it will buy, the New Jersey State Lottery is now in operation. Tickets at 50¢ apiece are on sale at A&P and Acme in the Shopping Center and West Windsor Township. Other outlets will be added.

The drawings will be held weekly beginning Thursday, January 7, for the grand prize of $50,000 awarded to the person holding the winning six-digit number. Nine second-place winners holding tickets with the last five digits matching the winning number will receive $4,000 each. Four hundred dollars will be given to 90 persons with the last four correct digits, and $40 to 900 winners with the last three matching numbers.

Those 9,000 persons with the last two numbers matching will automatically be entered in the "Millionaire Lottery" to be held in July. This will be held twice a year, with tickets at $2.50.

Winning tickets should be taken to any New Jersey State Motor Vehicle Office or Lottery District Office. There a receipt will be given and the ticket forwarded to the State Lottery Commission for final validation and payment by check.

Those buying tickets should remember to sign them on the back immediately to make them non-negotiable.

ing the entire 12-acre Weller Tract for parkland.

Minot C. Morgan Jr., director of the Institute for Advanced Study which owns the land and wants to cluster six faculty houses on four of its acres, reminded the Commission that the matter is now being negotiated with the state. He cited open space land already given to Princeton Township and stated, "We've given our last drop of blood."

In executive session, the Commission tied 3-3 on a resolution asking the state to buy the land. The tie vote has the effect of a negative vote; that is, without a "yes" majority, the Commission isn't in a legal position to make the request of the state.

A second resolution also drew a 3-3 vote. This one proposed that the Commission reaffirm its July, 1970 resolution favoring the six-homes on four-acres compromise. The three members who favored the first resolution opposed the second in a clean 3-3 switch.

NEW YEAR'S PARTY

With Municipal Officers. For the first time in Princeton's history, anybody who wants to, can attend re-organization meetings New Year's Day in both Borough and Township. In the past, both municipal governments have met at noon. This year, the Democrats — in control of both bodies for the first time — decided to play it fair to both sides.

The Township re-organization meeting will be held at 11 a.m. in Township Hall and the Borough's at noon.

Open house at the Hook and Ladder Firehouse on Harrison Street will follow the Borough ceremonies, and the public is invited.

'PRINCETON 3' FINED

$25 For Trespassing. Each of the "Princeton 3" has been fined $25 — half of the maximum fine that could have been imposed by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

All had been charged with trespassing on the University campus August 14 in violation of a then-imposed 8:30 University curfew. From the beginning the five — all Princeton residents — have pleaded not guilty. They are Mary B. Gibson, 28; William L. Stanton, and Jose L. Peco, both 24; Kuang Mei, 32; and William Burlingham, 20.

The fines, Monday by Judge Tams, probably mean an end to the protracted case. A planned appeal within 10 days is not likely to materialize because a fund set up for that purpose has raised less than $50, according to The Daily Princetonian.

In his decision, Judge Tams said that each defendant had more than ample opportunity to leave the campus without being arrested. "Each defendant has a personal defense and explains his or her presence as being for some purpose which should be permitted under the terms of the curfew. I find them all with out basis."

Judge Tams also rejected an argument by defense attorney Nadine Taub that in opening the campus to the public, state trespass laws, which apply only when persons are not permitted on a property, were not being violated.

"After considering all of the circumstances of this case and the applicable law," Judge Tams wrote, "I find that the front campus of Princeton University is a private ground

A TALK WITH COUNTY

On Incinerator. Can Princeton and Mercer County, working together, come up with incinerator plans the state will find acceptable?
Representatives of Princeton's Sewer Operating Committee and the Mercer County Improvement Authority were scheduled to meet this Wednesday afternoon to tackle that question. It's the first time the two groups have met to discuss Princeton's needs.

"We want to be in the strong position possible to get an extension of our December 31 incinerator deadline from the state," said Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, announcing the Wednesday meeting. "We need an initial exploration of what we can expect from working together before we go to the state with a plan."

Early next week, Princeton may "present some thoughts" to the state, the Mayor said.

ON YOUR BIKE?

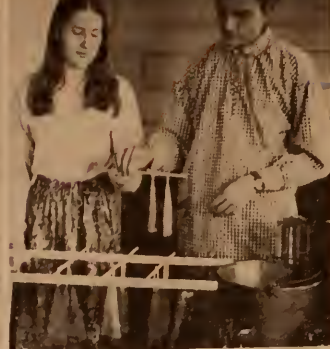

Paths Sought. Bicyclists and pedestrians will both have their day when the Regional Planning Board sets hearings early in 1971 for a bicycle path master plan and the Township's sidewalk master plan.

The cyclists are off and a way, with 130 signatures petitions wheeling around the Princeton community asking the Planning Board to adopt a bike master plan, and Township Committee and Borough Council to appropriate the money.

The petition hopes that stage one of a three-stage plan can be started this spring, marking existing walks and streets for bike use.

In second and third phases, missing links in existing streets would be filled and then totally new paths constructed. New paths would be six foot wide blacktop, cheaper and easier to bike on than concrete.

The cyclists, led by George Bertisch and Mrs. Ronald Wachold, have already informal

A DIP INTO THE PAST: The domestic art of candle-dipping will be part of a demonstration of Colonial crafts to be held in Bainbridge House, 158 Nassau Street, Saturday, December 26, from 13 and Sunday, December 27, from 2-4. Weavers, spinners, chair-makers will also display their craftsmanship. Nancy Quirk and Dominick Noguera, shown here, are student members of the Princeton Historical Society, sponsors of the craft demonstration.

ly asked Borough and Township each for $5,000 in the forthcoming 1971 budgets to get things started.

Overall, and over a period of time, the bike path cost might be $50,000. The Township thought it might have to spend $25,000 for 1970 sidewalks and included that sum in the current budget. Only $8,500 has been appropriated so far, and the bicycle petitioners are asking to have the rest appropriated for bike paths. Such action, however, would have to be taken before the present year and its budget, run out.

Petitions, with detailed maps on one side, are available at the Public Library, the A & P, Toys 'R Us, Pop's Cycle Shop, Varsity Sports and the Whole Earth Center across Nassau from Davidson's Market.

Additional information may be obtained from the Township.

The end of the rude awakening

Since it's impossible to do away with mornings altogether, JVC's done the next best thing.

They've put them off.

With a little something called a "snooze button."

It's standard equipment on their new FM/AM solid state digital clock radio.

And, as the name implies, it allows the user those extra few minutes of sleep in the morning that can make all the difference in the rest of the day.

When the button goes off to say it's time to get up, a simple push back down lets it know the owners not ready.

7 minutes later it'll be back. This can go on every 7 minutes for as long as an hour until even the most persistent sleeper should be ready to face the fact that it's morning.

And once he's ready to face that, he won't have to squint at a big hand and a little hand to find out what part of the morning it is. The correct time is right there in bold numbers on the front of the radio.

The whole thing comes in a choice of attractive finishes. And at one attractive price. Just $39.95 list.

Incidentally, for your customers who only have to be told something once, JVC has a digital clock radio without the snooze button for only $49.95.

We can't say either one of them will ever replace sleeping late, but they can make getting up a little more bearable.

The Slipper Situation

"Mukluks," with their leather sole and knitted tops are at Brophy's, Palmer Square, for those who like slipper socks. Also hand-sewn corduroy moccasins with cushioned crepe soles.

The famous "Mops," warm and floppy, are at Hult's, Nassau Street. Seven colors to choose from ($4.95 & $5.95). Also dainty slippers for women, made of velvet with a touch of embroidery over the toes. ($3.50), and the piled Teddies, suede on the outside of the ankle-bow style. ($8.50).

Omphies with the heavenly cushioned sole, lots of good colors and interesting style variety, at Nassau Shoe Tree, Palmer Square.

THE SPORTING LIFE
Or, Keeping Fit. Center Sports in Princeton Shopping Center makes a special feature of sport-based indoor games at this time of year. Table hockey is one, and there's a soccer game called Killik.

We found a carrom board for all kinds of games and also a Nok-Hockey carrom for basement games. Dart games range in price from $3.50 right up to the official tournament model at $26.95.

Center Sports has several off season gadgets: the 1914 Hole electric putting cup for the never say die golfer ($3.95); and Returnball which lets the baseball pitcher practice indoors on snowy days ($8).

For those who will shortly hit the snowy slopes, in full balance, we hope, Center Sports will show you Catskill toboggans in sizes up to the whole family (from $12.95), with auxiliary pads, if you want them. There are skis, and junior ski sets with poles

In ski clothing, Center has a good selection of the Allan A. Ski Skins for men, and Duofold for women. There is a great selection of bright designs in knitted caps, face protectors, mitts and ski boots and also insulated boots for any cold weather activity outdoors.

Center has Hide skates for hockey or fancy figure 8's, and all of the equipment for ice hockey. Thinking ahead to warmer weather, there's a complete range of golf equipment and a rackful of aids: scissors, gloves, golf umbrellas (from $7.95), and even the duffer's rake, called a retriever, for extracting balls from the hazards.

Varsity Sports on Nassau Street is filled to the eaves, it seems, with outerwear for winter sports. Slick, ne weight "wind shirts" for men and women, for instance, made by White Stag and Profile. These are in solid colors or prints at prices of $6.95 to $19. There are also some for children.

You'll be interested in the versatile vests of slim nylon, with a lining of sheepskin look plush, for a girl skier. The men's vests are similar, and they are all very colorful.

Warm-up pants with the long zippers down the sides are one of Varsity Sports' most popular items. Made of light-weight nylon, like so many parkas, the pants are either lined or not. Made by Gerry, Edelweiss, and so on. There's a new ski goggle that is guaranteed to be fog-proof and it's made by Trappe of Aspen. Ask Varsity to show it to you. Also the glamorous sweaters with all-over design imported from Sweden, and the American knits with slim crossbars in a window-pane look. Browse through the girls' helmets, knitted with a feathery stitch in heavy wool ($6.95).

For absolute, unbeatable warmth, see the Gerry and White Stag jackets and snow parkas, of down-filled nylon. They weigh almost nothing and are very flexible.

Varsity Sports has a great range of tennis, squash and paddle tennis rackets. Also hockey sticks by Northland, Victrola and Koho in sizes bantam to adult and priced from $12.25 to $5.99. There are boys' and girls' stocking caps, knitted face masks, scarf hats, and other varieties from $2.25 to about $4.25. We loved the colors.

And if you're looking for skis, Varsity carries the standards by Head, Yamaha, Blizzard and Fischer, including the shorties for children. "Pengins."

At Tiger Auto, we found the wide, single ski called a "Snarfer" for use on snow or sand dunes; Flexibia Flyer sleds with red runners, and the hatwing shape of aluminum, "Sno-wing" which goes like the wind on a snowy slope. ($7.99).

Also the round trays of aluminum, "Snow Discs," and "Snow Flyers." All have hand grips, and you'll see them in action at the Springdale golf course on the first snowy day. ($2.95 to $4.50)

Tiger has the skating-sledging helmets with a slit for the eyes, all ribbed knits of navy blue. There are Canadian ice skates; baskets for bicycles ($2.98 up); traditional red wagons for little boys ($7.95 to $13.95); boxing gloves in

Gifts For The Girls

Among the lovely (feminine) ideas at H. P. Clayton, Palmer Square, are some "specially nice travel cases for lingerie, jewelry, luxury and small what-nots. Prices range from $4.50 for the zip-around jewel case lined in velvet up to $10. Among the group is a pastoral print in blue on white that is fresh and charming.

Unusual things in jewelry loved by all the girls are genuine scarab bracelets with mixed stones and, chined in 12-karat gold ($9 to $23). We liked the versatile, elegant "Prince of Wales" chains ($27) with bracelets to match ($23-30) in gold and silver twisted together. Also the very charming sterling silver bracelets with engraved designs, and the carved ivory rings used in pins and earrings.

Among the lingerie, a Princeton girl may want the tiger print sets by Vin Raal. Choose from pajamas ($22), long or short gowns ($18 and $20), slips, bras, hosiery, even slippers. All unusual - and effective.

In the classic mood, a hennu tuff white slip in a conching satin look knit, also by Vin Raal. The deep hem is scal-

"The Cat's Whiskers" and Others

Picture books for children, suggested by Princeton Public Library, start with Bill Chalmatz's imaginative "The Cat's Whiskers," published by Macmillan, $4.95.

"A Bargain for Frances," by Russell Hoban. Frances makes her "I Can Read" debut in this humorous story. Harper-Roy, $2.50.

"Shapes and Things," by Tana Hoban, photos of common household things provide visual delight. Macmillan, $4.95.

"Clocks and More Clocks," Pat Hutchins, Mr. Higgins is puzzled about the time differences of his many clocks. Macmillan, $4.95.

"Whose Mouse Are You?" by Robert Kraus: Nobody's mouse saves his family and gets his wish for a brother. Macmillan, $4.95.

"The Way of An Ant," Kazuo Mizumura. The young ant who wants to climb as high as the sky. Crowell, $3.95.

"In The Night Kitchen," by Maurice Sendak. Mackey helps the Oliver. Harly look-alike cooks make the cake. Harper-Roy, $4.95.

Clayton's robes will interest you quilts and plushy nylons many of them. The long robes of a very fine knit wool with silk linings are something special. Cut in a rather straight and very chic line, the robes come in pastel pink, blue or white. Light and delicate.

For a woman with travel on her mind Clayton's offers travel cases in leather or patent knit, in the handbag department, also some delightful print bags for the Southbound.

We liked the scarves from Scotland - tartans and solids in 70 percent cashmere (36"), and the mohair mixtures from Ireland with matching tunics (around $8).

And be sure to see the really fine imported cashmere sweaters. Lyle and Scott and Braemar provide traditional and drowsian styles, some with decorative features. F. R. M. Hadley, two unusual sweaters: a tucked front, cashmere that ties at the neck, and a super long pant-sweater in pure ca-

The Second Look on Nassau Street is showing glittering, rich and subtle gear for your party mood. Consider an utterly simple pants suit of brown and gold ($56); or a silvery chain-link culotte of tulle or tulle with a silver sash. The skirt is a silver and brown brocade in a Far East design (also in silver and burgundy) $135.00.

To go to the other extreme, the Second Look has an utterly understated black knit in a bulky yarn, with an austere dual lap across the scoop neck. The gently flaring skirt is knitted in a different stitch, and the sleeves are short and square cut. ($42).

frilled and ruffled taffetas with woven satin strips of many colors. The stripes are inventively cut and used. There's a tie sash.

Second Look is showing some neat jumpsuits in clear, solid colors, bright green, for instance, with a roll neck and a belt laced with long, shaggy leather thongs ($34). There's a good choice of costume jewelry, too, especially the long chain necklaces in various designs.

Sheepskins & All That Saks Fifth Avenue's shop on Nassau Street is inclined to talk about outdoor clothing for men. They lend off with a white sheepskin army coat, made with the wool side inside and canvas exterior pockets and canvas loop fasteners for the bone buttons. This is really an original, out of the usual range of sheepskins. ($140).

Then, a Norfolk jacket in corduroy — choose fawn or light brown. The traditional cut with belted back, high center vent, and a strap belt in front that buttons. Seems to beg for plus fours. ($70).

And too, Saks has the British Naval overcoat, authentically reproduced in a warm, calf length coat of navy blue. The silver buttons say "N.P.S." and we're pretty sure that it's the World War II fire service model, a romantic suggestion.

Shape Up, Or...

With New Year's resolutions in the offing, Center Sports will help with various items to keep someone in good trim: exercise bicycles (from $35); special grip improvers for golfers, exercise mats in good colors to cheer the groaner on; gym bars, and bar bells for boys, men and — in white — for the ladies.

At Tiger Auto are the "weight bells" that you wrap around your waist while you pursue the day's duties, and the Raleigh collapsible exercise

Very heavy and weatherproof. ($35).

For the finishing touches, Saks has sheepskin gloves, hand stitched, brown in color and nicely made ($16); and two styles of fur hats. There is the Trumper (maybe you would call it the Deerstalkers) with earflaps and a bow on top, and the cosack shape, $23 and $14 respectively.

Among the scarves are the double-sided versions (properly called "the long wrap" if you're from England) in various English college patterns ($30). And the long, sporty knitted kind in bold horizontal stripes ($10).

For more formal comfort, Saks has printed silk scarves in paisley and tie silk prints with soft woven wool linings. These are a generous size to wear with a greatcoat.

Saks certainly puts up a small store front for all they have in there: short kimono robes in wool-cotton mixtures from tartans to stretchy plush (around $25); semi-body shirts in knit cotton; and several original but not outrageous types of ties — wool challis in a great variety of patterns and wool knits from Italy in strong horizontal stripes. ($5 to $10).

Glamour Gifts

Milady, that chic little shop on Palmer Square, has the new look in furs, from accessories to rich, dark ranch minks.

New this year is sea otter, which has the look of unplucked nutria. We saw a mid-length coat in chocolate brown with a matching fox collar.

And for speechless amazement on Christmas morning give her Milady's black mink cape full length, and lined in red, no less. Did we say "mink"? — well, we were fooled; it is made of fine muskrat skins, dyed to fool you, too. There's a thick collar, wear it open or high and closed.

Milady's fur coats come in various cuts and lengths of nutria, mink, mole, fox. The muskrat capes are soft and lovely. We also liked a two-tone lamb coat with chevron inserts.

There are broadtail and mink jackets, and of course, mink coats from the dark fur to the opal white tone. Among the extras that make a girl happy, fur collars, hats, and muffs.

Milady also has estate jewelry to delight you. Some of it is in its original setting, others have been re-designed by Carol Allen, Milady's owner, into very of the moment pieces.

Studio Twelve in the Mont gomery Shopping Center has excellent cultured pearls in a small boutique section offering necklaces, earrings, pins, bracelets, rings and pendants. This is the Year of the Pearl, we've been told.

Also the very beautiful his and hers watches by Longines.

in 18 K and 14 K gold. Fashion designed, accurate, and elegant.

H. R. Kalms offers unusual 11K gold pins in sculptured designs in his Winter Shop on Chambers Street. "Rat runner" with a ruby eye, an exquisite grouping of music rooms are among them.

There are some extremely lovely pendants, delicate and feminine, as well as intricate gold bracelets for charms. Some of the gold earrings for pierced ears come with matching bracelets.

We also liked the silver finger pins and bracelets, including an elegant butterfly December's child wears tuques, and Mr. Kalms offers so much in this beautiful store that it is worth stopping by.

The watches this year include pocket types, which women are beginning to wear on a neck chain. You'll see slim gold, elaborately engraved versions and many others. Watches at H. R. Kalms, by the way, begin at about $19.95 up to, and maybe beyond, the very beautiful lady's seven diamond watch hidden in a gold mesh bracelet ($350).

Tooling up for Spring

Obal's Garden Market, Lower Alexander Street, is high as a kite about the new cordless grass shear, made by Duston. It works on the comb principle like hedge shears and will quietly cut the grass, especially the awkward spots, at the dazzling rate of 6,000 strokes per minute. Recharges overnight, working up enough power to cut the grass in Palmer Stadium. ($29.95)

Wilkinson (Sword Blade) pruners and seateurs are also at Obal's. Included is a curved pruning saw, and the "Armour-cut" with two settings for clipping hives and pieces from the bushes. (Prices are round $10 to $16.95)

Then there's the Easybeat seed starter, the type with electric wiring below the soil. ("The growing medium")

Obal's beat the nurseryman at the seeding game. (At Obal's)

Winner Take All

The Game Room on Nassau Street is a whirl with chess sets, Springbok puzzles, backgammon, Scrabble (choose your language), Fischer chess construction toys, games for sophisticates, game for very little children in the toy store. Inventor's kits, and even kaleidoscopes in oil and three dimensions.

It also has a full line as far as we could tell, of Panasonic radios, tape recorders, television sets and digital radios.

The Panasonics are new at the Game Room, and you'll be amazed at the wide variety of combination of compactness and sleek styling with excellent quality. By far and away the most intriguing is the portable television AM-FM radio combination. Push a button and the screen comes up at a viewing angle. ($149.95)

The portable multi-band radio has two 6 inch speakers as adjuncts. If you need them, the digital clock radios seem to range in price so you'll have to explore them yourself.

Getting back to games, your skill table may well hold "Aquarius 2000," a home astrology computer, or "Space Chess" ($10.95); or even the Siro Agnew jig saw puzzle ($1).

Adult games include "Verdict II," a realistic legal game; "Diplomacy," whereby you guide the affairs of a European nation; and also war games ranging from the Battle of Waterloo to Guadalcanal. There's a racing game that enters upon Le Mans, and "Strategy Rummy," the list goes on and on.

For young types; craft sets, fairy tale puppets about 12 inches high, including a loose-jointed white horse; all sorts of travel versions of standard games; and shelves of games loved by the ages of the children.

Snoopy, the Peanuts cartoon's beloved beagle, comes in a game with his enemy the Red Baron; then there's magnetic baseball ($1); "Sculps," which gives kids a plus to stuff to model and bake on the over at home ($5); "Risk" for the strategy-minded middle schooler, and "Stratego" if he already has "Risk."

Unlucky's, in case you may have forgotten, has poker chips, playing cards, magnetic chess and checker sets, and even Autochord for beginning.

A Sleigh-ride Away
At the Lawrence Shopping Center on Route One is Gran-nicks, a fur and fashion shop that will surprise you with the range in its offerings.

Among the furs, a special gift coat of dyed rabbit for little miss size 3 (up to $65). Short and pert, with a wide, notched collar and a nice flair. ($100 for the child who has almost everything)

For her mother, a lean little beauty of a dress in pleated chiffon the color of cocoa ($130); or delightful neckties, earrings and pins designed by Kenneth Lane — all unusual and of superior craftsmanship. Gran-nicks has fur hats — many kinds, and evening bags in out-of-the-way designs in metallics, and gleaming fabrics.

For robes and athome gowns, be sure to go to Stacy's, also in the Lawrence

The Puppy's Diary

A small puppy tells in a recording of the day's ways in a training record designed to teach youngsters how to care for their pet.

This is only one of the toybook style records on the care and training of puppies, dogs, kittens, gerbils, guinea pigs, hamsters, birds and goldfish. All newly released by Pet Productions, Inc. You'll find them at Zinder's, an entertaining and original idea for a gift.

Lawrence Shopping Center

We found here a hostess robe with the skirt-and-top look. The black jersey top has a V inset that softly drapes the front. The boldly quilted skirt is a pattern of squares and circles of black and creamy beige. The skirt is red-lined. ($32).

Among the long, warm robes that everyone needs when the mornings are so dark and cold is a multi-colored quilt in red-blue-green-yellow on creamy white. There's a look of India to it. ($30) of the robe-and-gown sets at Stacy (and there is a splendid selection) see the one with a robe quilted in a small mushroom pattern, paired with a gown, by total contrast, of a slender, bias-cut shape, tied at the back for perfect fit. The gown front is a wrap-over design with a rather Grecian look. This is one of the prettiest we've seen this year. Available in long or short lengths; $60 or $75 for the robe, and $22 or $26 for the gown.)

We explored furs at Stacy's and report happily that the hats are all real furs. There are toques in red fox ($40); or softer styles in soft opus sum ($32); or gorgeous curly white lamb with a shiny, almost wig-like look ($17.50).

And in the fur room, we picked out a natural muskrat, accented with insets of brown leather in a slenderizing effect that cuts down on the bulk. ($40, for a magnificent surprise gift) And you'll see lovely blue fox stoles from Norway, delicate and luxuriously cozy. ($18)

Stacy's is a peaceful, friendly place to shop in, with the silvery windows keynoting the whole environment.

Robert Varga! Have you dashed into this new shop on your travels? It is like Alad din's cave: all mysterious outside and all glamour inside. This is a good source of party gowns and of jewelry in bold, colorful contemporary design. The peasant look at Robert Varga is handled in a marvelous way; more lavishly than most we've seen, and with much attention to detail. A dress we loved matched a creamy, full-sleeved blouse with a red stripe print skirt. There's a dirdle strap effect. ($35)

And see the peasant skirts with gathers and flounces, and even a glorious effect with multiple layers: striped cord in navy, orange, brown and cream in the first tier, followed by black taffeta, orange watered taffeta and then a bright print. ($65).

There's a successful and bright print blouse in white that goes with these skirts for maximum effect, with special design detail in the elastic shirring half way down the sleeve, giving an unusual and pretty outline. ($14).

The party looks, which are very varied and exciting — and not just for the teens, either — start with a very discreet and elegant pea do soe in navy, with a collared open neck and a wide belt of silver embroidery — from the fertile brain of Oscar de la Renta ($100); and include a proper, formal gown with a touch of the peasant influence, but charmingly original. ($10).

The gold jewelry is large scale and colorful, with big stones and baroque looks. Enamel, too, including a snake ring of green and blue enamel.

It's New To Us

on heavy 18 K gold ($51).
Suits at Robert Vargis go up to 16, and you'll be amazed at the great time and trouble they will take in your behalf. We saw a very square lad who was used to a 18, and they were prepared to do special sizes for him.

Mentions for a
Two ships on Route One (the ding towards Trenton) offer some fine suggestions as you in shopping for men and boys, too.

Frederick W. Donnelly & Son is new to us, and we pass a look to you some of our findings. The shop is at the Lake Lawrence Plaza on Route One west north of Trenton Avenue. The store is spacious and very pleasant, arranged in areas of interest.

We noticed some new looks in pajamas (kimojamas) with the oriental cut and fabric. Think of a print an oriental print top in black yellow and red with black binding, matched with black pants ($10 for your karate or judo fan).

There are some reversible cotton to terrycloth robes here. One is a bright red with a thin navy stripe, reversing to white terrycloth. The sleeves are wide cut kimono style for comfort and very good looks ($20). And a super all scarlet robe in heavy terrycloth, with rolled stitching banding the sleeves and fronts. Very hand some, $25.

For the lucky men with a winter vacation in prospect, Donnelly has a particularly nice jacket in a lightweight mixture of wool and linen. The English fabric is a red and white tweed. A scarlet lining adds a touch. The jacket has a place where hosiery are welcome, and it is here that you may see the gift that some one will enjoy. Most likely area for hunting are among the grey and blue New Jersey jackets, all big and handsome, or among the redware, much prized by collectors. Or perhaps the Bradshaw etchings of the Princeton and New Jersey landscapes.

There's a fine range of boys' styles at Donnelly. Shirts, sweaters, very pretty cap and scarf sets in Scandinavian pattern, martens-billy sweaters from England ($17-$29.50) in pleasurable designs.

And for the with it man and boy, there is some red leather vests in crushed velvet or wide wale corduroy, or fringed tweed or patterned knits ($15). The sheepskin and leather looks are also successful.

Ties, scarves, bubble hats (kerchiefs) and gift packed handkerchiefs, all in an assortment for all tastes.

Robert Hall is a cheerful and must place to include in your rounds. On the men and boys side, we found some good looking easy cardigan for sport wear. Made of brushed wool in the new argyle or plaid patterns, and in heady color mixtures such as blue red green or brown grey black all marvelous but not too wild. ($9.95)

See also the wool and mohair sweaters, soft and extremely light to wear, but very warm. In a pattern of green and yellow, for instance, or brown and turquoise. ($9.95).

lighted with an English bobby's kilt or tress. A shipment of jacket Chelsea Pensioners coats, and tricorn hats is expected. Maybe the frock coats and silk hats may be just the fun gift you're looking for.

In the period room at County Antiques, the children's furniture is outstanding. We saw a handsome Windsor chair, mid size, $85, among other items. There's a wonderful doll and dollhouse collection.

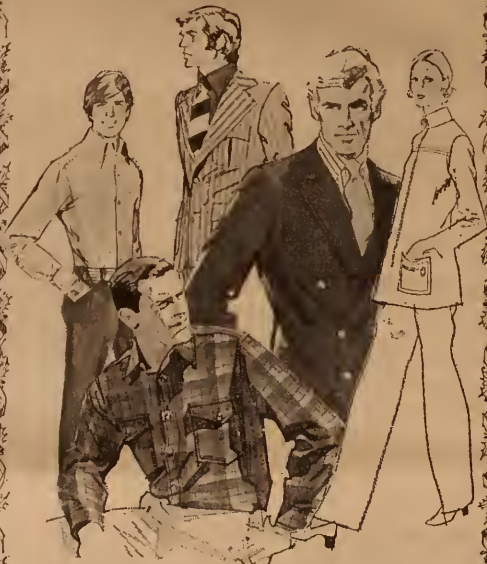

For the Bonapartistophile, County Antiques has come across a portrait of Napoleon on horseback, executed in the almost forgotten art of calligraphy. This is a charming curiosity, beautifully executed.

Chiaroscuro, a new gallery with a contemporary focus, is in the Princeton Shopping Center. It will give you a pleasant break in your shopping rounds. Here are some refreshing gift and decorating ideas:

In the group of mounted pre-Columbian art objects is an outstanding piece — a fragment of a Toltec culture preclassical head, perhaps of a priest or sacred subject. This is a fascinating and beautiful piece from the Gulf Coast region of Mexico, made of sand colored clay with red burnished areas and black art decorative markings. ($120).

In the same group are small portrait heads and also larger — Continued On Page 24

Meters Threaten P.J.&B.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Reducing the parking meter fee from 50 cents to 30 cents is hardly a victory for the commuter when one considers he is shortly to be saddled with an increase in commutation rates the first of the year. Whatever the Borough Council decides to fix for parking meter fees, it still remains a nuisance tax which the commuter very much resents.

The reduction in parking meter fees is no guarantee that this will entice the commuters to continue using the facilities of this excellent shuttle service between Princeton and Princeton Junction. The majority of commuters I have spoken with say that they would rather pay the parking meter fee at the Junction than to the Borough.

Before the Borough Council decides to install these parking meters, they should weigh very carefully the great danger that the railroad will grasp this as an excellent opportunity to petition the Public Service Commission to drop this service. Even now, with no meter and present patronage this line can hardly be called a financial success.

It is still not too late to scrap the whole idea of parking meters at the Princeton station and seek other means of taxation, thereby saving the P.J.&B. from being exterminated by the Penn Central Railroad.

What Bleiman Really Said.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Although I agree completely with Benjamin K. Silverman's admiration for the "talent, dedication, ability, drive, and humanity" of Township Mayor Wallace, I think Dr. Silverman is being unfair to Mr. Jay Bleiman, newly elected Township Committeeman, when he suggests that Mr. Bleiman, during his campaign, gave "a clear implication that the Mayor was to remain unchanged."

Mr. Bleiman asked the voters to choose between himself and Mr. Meyer simply on the basis of who would make the better Township Committeeman. He asked people not to vote for Mr. Meyer merely to insure a Republican majority on the Committee to guarantee the reelection of Mr. Wallace as Mayor. This is a far cry from promising or in any way implying that he, Mr. Bleiman, would vote to retain Mr. Wallace as Mayor.

One point that Mr. Bleiman stressed was that the Mayor of the Township is but one of five members of Committee, and that any one of the five has as much to contribute in the governance of the Township as has any one of the other four members.

HERBERT MCANENY
67 Grover Avenue

Bleiman Has an Open Choice.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In a letter to the TOWN TOPICS last week, Benjamin K. Silverman asserts that Jay Bleiman, Township Committeeman elect, has incurred clear-cut responsibility to vote to reappoint Mr. Jack Wallace as Mayor of Princeton Township for 1972. As a member of this community who can't imagine Mr. Bleiman reappointed for 1972, I feel obligated to answer Mr. Silverman.

To quote a quotation from Mr. Silverman's letter attributed to Mr. Bleiman: "This is not a race for Mayor. This is a race between Jay Bleiman and Charles Meyer for Township Committee, vote for whomever you feel will make the better Committeeman."

On the basis of this statement, Dr. Silverman has concluded that Jay Bleiman owes to vote for Mr. Wallace to be the new "mayor." On the contrary, all Jay Bleiman has to do is to vote for the man whom he feels would be the best chairman of the Township Committee. It is only rational to assume that Mr. Bleiman will use the same criterion as indicated by the above quotation, to select the best man for the job.

When the new Committee meets for its first session, we will know whom Mr. Bleiman feels to be the best man for the job. There is no logical way by which one can assume that the statement which supports selection for an office based upon qualifications for that office applies to one particular member of those under consideration. Jay Bleiman and his supporters used this criterion twice.

First, that Mr. Bleiman was elected, indicates that a majority of voters felt him to be the best man for the job. Secondly, he himself will have to use this criterion for selecting the person whom he feels will be the best "mayor." That Jay Bleiman, in his campaign, disavowed the selection of the new Committeeman from him, the new Committeeman would vote in selecting a new "mayor" in no way indicated that he (Mr. Bleiman) supported nor would support the present "mayor."

Dr. Silverman, in his letter, should not have made a statement stronger than one which said that in his opinion, (Mr. Silverman's), Jack Wallace would make the best "mayor" and that he would hope that Mr. Bleiman agreed with this opinion, and would vote accordingly. However, it is Jay Bleiman's responsibility to vote for whomever the new Committeeman feels to be the best qualified, and he will be known shortly.

Building's Rejection Illegal.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
(Editor's Note: The following letter by T. B. Fisher, a Township member of the Princeton Regional Planning Board, has been sent to the board and released to the press. Mr. Fisher is one of the 18 members of the board who voted in favor of North Square at Princeton, the former "Toaster" North Square building, by a 7-6 vote of the board and its developers, have appealed the decision to Township Committee.)

Regarding the recent major decision on the application for proposed office building at Collins and Hoxington Anderson, I would like to not only express my total disagreement with the decision, but also have my reasons recorded.

It seems to me that the majority argument for disapproving this application is based rather weakly on three arguments. These are: traffic patterns, changes in ecology, and a technicality regarding the authorization to file the plan. On one or in half of a firm not presently owning the property.

Thinking the last point first, it is patently ridiculous to assume that the First National Bank of Princeton has no knowledge of this application which has had thorough coverage in the press since last July. Approval could have been in a contingent on receipt of written authorization from the bank.

Next let me comment on the traffic situation. I agree that route 206 has very limited capacity to handle additional traffic at peak hours. This is hardly within the control of the applicant, however, and should be treated in the same manner as any other developing traffic problem.

Roads, both state highways and local streets, have to be upgraded from time to time to meet existing conditions and until the need is present this will obviously not be done. It is altogether unreasonable to tell an applicant that he cannot develop his land because it might cause an external traffic problem. If this were a valid provision, we would still be living with the road system of 1776.

The last argument is based on ecology. I am very much in sympathy with the efforts of conservationists to preserve our trees, streams and scenic outlooks. Princeton Township has aided this effort magnificently with the Open Space Program which has taken a lot of land out of development. This land I might point out has been either voluntarily contributed or paid for.

So far I have seen no precedent for denying the owners of private property the right to develop their land without full payment, and I do not believe that in free country government at any level has, or should have, this power. It seems unjust to require 5.5 acres of parking to be provided for the project and then to use the extent of the resulting black top as an argument for rejection.

This is especially true in view of the proposed change to the ordinance reducing this requirement and the desire of most members to tolerate the construction of some of the required parking pending approval of the new ordinance.

The Site Plan Review Ordinance is the vehicle being used in this case. If an ordinance intended merely to protect the public from thoughtlessly developed areas seen from the public right of way, unsafe entrances, and traffic patterns within the development, and to make sure that adequate screening is provided for parking, service areas, etc., can be distorted to give this Board the degree of arbitrary authority over private land owners implicit in this decision, then the ordinance should be repealed.

The Board should bear in mind that they are not in the position of generally granting applicants the right to use their land but, instead, that they must have valid legal reasons for disapproval of an application. Contrived and capricious reasoning such as was used in this decision is certainly not compatible with the fundamental principles of law in this country.

It is my firm belief and hope that the arbitrary action just taken by this Board will be overturned on appeal. I am sending a copy of this letter to the press in the hope that the citizens of this community will consider carefully the possible effect on their own rights if this decision is allowed to stand.

THRIFTWAY

 ing board members who rejoined North Square live in a borough, while a clear majority of the Township representatives voted to support it.

Four of the six affirmative votes were from Township representatives as voted on the board. The one abstinent member, Gerald Basso, is a Township representative at large.

The seven who signed the statement are Philip S. Collin, Harrison J. Phil Jr., Richard W. Huntington and Kurt Veltson, the architects and planners, who are joined in the North Square project by Charles L. Jaffin, Robert H. Bierson and David M. Alkin.

If a high quality office building cannot be built to a re-sonable cost, the Township on the last large tract zoned for full commercial use, there is no new office or research building can be built anywhere in the Township, including the area zoned for Office Research use, the statement continues, adding that without more reliable "costs" than "it is to prove prohibitively."

The cost and research rates have been rejected by the Township, and simply go over the border to other municipalities, the statement says.
 Princeton Township will not be the municipal burdens and costs but not help in paying the cost.

It is ironic that the Township Zoning Board will shortly be asked to approve a variant for subsidizing middle-income housing to enable families with limited income to continue to live in Princeton while the planning board takes this final ill-considered step which will make it substantially harder for any family with limited means to continue to live in the Township without subsidy.

The statement cites the approval of the project given by the Township's site-plan review board, pointing out that the planners found the "best areas" of trees were left undisturbed, and buildings and parking arranged that the natural environment was retained "as much as possible."
 The values of North Square have appealed the planning board's decision to Township Committee. The hearing will be held shortly after January 1.

CAR, TRUCK COLLIDE Sunday Charged. Police have charged a University student with drunken driving following the collision Saturday between his pickup truck and a car on Nassau Street near 10th.

After being treated at Prince George Hospital for a leg laceration and a broken tooth, James H. Glick, 22, was taken to Brough police headquarters and given a blood test. He was charged with driving while intoxicated by Sgt. John J. Bellow.

Edythe J. Rarac, 50, of 1001 Nassau, was charged with driving while intoxicated. She was released on $100 bond.

Long Range Thoughts?

"We want specific reactions and suggestions from the town on Long Range Planning. Report and school board Tuesday night. What you have to say could make a difference."

Early in January, Long Range representatives will meet with Borough Council and Township Committee for financial talks. Dr. Marvel announced.

He said that 300 PHS students had participated in a Wednesday Morning Work shop on long range planning. Another is scheduled for January 20, reported Matt Neuberg, Student Council President. A meeting for financial talks, Dr. Marvel announced.

Three persons received minor injuries when two cars collided late Thursday morning at the intersection of North Harrison Street and Turnpike Road. Maria Carnevale, 59, 31 Maple Street, was treated at Princeton Hospital for pains in the chest and face and hand. Rerd, 33, Pin Oak Road, Skillman, the second driver, and her small daughter, Sara, received abrasions and contusions.

According to P.D. John Hammond, the Carnevale car had stopped at the stop sign at Turnpike and then proceeded into the intersection. The Rerd car veered to the right but hit on the left side, in trying to avoid a collision. There were no charges.

Pedestrian Struck. An elderly pedestrian was struck by a car early last week, as she was crossing Nassau Street at Witherspoon.

Mrs. Lucia N. Valentine, 68, 7 Lafayette Road, was taken to Princeton Hospital by Mrs. Harold Hochschild, 150 Stockton Street. She was treated for a slight splash and abrasion to her left ankle.

 Saurd Nilsen, 72, Washington Avenue, Griggstown, who was in the process of turning left onto Nassau from Witherspoon, with failure to give a pedestrian the right of way. A witness said that Mrs. Valentine was carrying a suitcase and was in the crosswalk when the car, turning bumped her, causing her to fall backward.

Pd. Agins noted that the sun was shining brightly at the time and could easily have hampered one's vision.

MORE WALLETS TAKEN

From Women's Purses
 "We're getting a couple of reports of women's wallets being stolen every week," said Borough Chief Peter J. McCrohan Monday, as he reported two more.

Friday morning at 11:58, Mrs. Dora Langer, executive secretary at Benson & Benson, Inc., 33 Witherspoon Street, reported her blue pocketbook missing from under her desk. She told police that about two hours earlier a man had left literature on her desk from the New Jersey Library Association and walked out.

Her pocketbook was later found under a stairway in the building by a maintenance man, minus its wallet which contained $1. Mrs. Langer described the man who left the literature as a Negro, about 23, light complexioned with a small moustache, wearing dark glasses.

A purse belonging to Mrs. Kenneth Jones, 5 Princeton Road, Hopewell, was found by a woman at 8:30 Saturday morning in the roadway of Palmer Square West.

Mrs. Jones told police that it had been stolen the day before while she was attending a service at St. Andrews Church. Police said that it contained a wedding band and a check book but apparently no cash.

SHAKEDOWN ELUDED

By Hun Student. A 16-year-old Hun School student, returning to school on his bicycle Saturday night, managed to escape an attempted shake down for money.

According to police, he was riding his bicycle at 10:45 p.m. when two youths jumped out of the bushes and stopped him at the intersection of Edgerstowne and Winant Road. One, the student said, told him he wanted his money, but he replied that he only had a few dollars.

As he began to get off his bike, he kicked backwards and knocked one of his assailants down. The other gave chase but was unable to catch him. The student reported the incident to a school official, who called Township police.

Pd. Robert Nielsen investigated. The student reported that one of his attackers was tall and wore a leather jacket; the other was six to nine inches shorter. Both wore black, he said.

DRUG STORE ENTERED

In Shopping Center. Thieves entered the Thrift Drug Store in the Princeton Shopping Center over the weekend and escaped with $391.42 from a cash register.

Police said the intruders first removed a metal vent cover on the roof near the rear of the ure and then kicked out a thin metal grating. After lowering themselves, they rifled a cash register but police said, apparently no drugs or any other valuables were taken.

They left via a rear door, using keys they found in a pharmacist's desk. All were pending in the door had been cut police said.

The entry discovered at 9 Monday Morning, took place between then and 5:30 p.m. Sunday. David Potts made the initial investigation. It was continued by Detectives Samuel Bianco and Norman Servis.

SHOTGUN, STEREOS TAKEN
In Separate Car Thefts, A shotgun and stereo players were among the items taken in three separate car thefts last week in the Borough.

James S. Skillman of Rin guns reported losing a shotgun and case valued at $150, a box of shells and a $185 John cow from his station wagon while it was parked next to Dillon Gym on campus. He placed the theft between 11 Friday night and 7 the next morning. Police report that a vent window was forced to gain entry.

Jerry Fedderph of 322 Cooper Hall told police Sunday that he lost an eight track stereo recorder, two speakers, assorted tapes, and a radio from his car while it was parked in the university's Quad range lot. He placed his total loss at $180.

A Westminster Choir College student, Larry Weinstein, reported losing a $70 stereo player from his sports car while it was parked in one of the school's lots.

Police said that the thief had pushed in an unlocked vent window.

MAN HELD IN JAIL

On Drug, Weapon Charges. A former Borough resident is in Mercer County Jail, awaiting action by a grand jury on a series of charges stemming from his arrest last week in the Nassau Inn by Borough police.

Being held in lieu of $15,000 bail is Martin Grubb, 27, who gave police a Berkeley, Calif. address. He has been charged with unlawful possession of dangerous weapons, possession of narcotics, possession of dangerous drugs other than narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Police were called to the Inn by the manager after Grubb became sick in his room. Police allegedly found two loaded .38 caliber pistols in his possession, two long knives, and an assortment of drugs and narcotics.

ROSES and RHUBARB

BY DON ALLEN

Yellow days...

Between my father and I, certain subjects are taboo. One being "cattailing." You see my dad, recently retired, had agreed to help us gather cattails one year and it almost did him in. In fact it almost did us all in. I consider that June day or so to be quite literally the highwater mark of my cattailing career.

We use miniature cattails (typha angustifolia linnaeus) in our Thanksgiving centerpiece and dried arrangements. Public opinion is that dried cattails are gathered in the fall. Not so. They are harvested between June 10 and June 20, which is somewhat of a trade secret. At this time the miniature cattail is in the pollen state. A messy piece of business since the pollen sack perched above the cattails literally explodes with pollen as the cattails are being cut, something like throwing a handful of flour into the air.

Down behind the Little Town of Old Bridge is a huge tidal swamp where cattails grow by the hundreds of thousands. There were six of us that day. My dad, two of my own sons, Jim and Mark, and two fellow sprigs, Craig and Dave. We were to enter the swamp at 6 A.M. while the tide was out. We would experience the crest of the tide and see it fall once this day.

Most interesting was the sartorial splendor of the crew. All wore jackets of one type or other. Old army jackets were favored by most. For my part, I always wore an "Llanero" sport coat. Llanero clothes don't grow old, you know, they just mellow as "Decker" will say. Even in old age they have certain bearing about them. Anyway, I chose hip boots, dungarees, my "mellowed" blue blazer and a gold cap. Dad favored a Frank Rock type rib helmet, while other exotic headgear were in evidence.

With a Lemming-like bent toward self-destruction we headed out into the swamp. The whole operation should have been choreographed. For one thing you don't just go crashing out into the tidal marsh. You start by cutting cattails along the near bank, then you work your way toward the thick by crushing down the stubble with a sideways step, thus creating a mat effect which supports your weight on the ooze.

These cattails stood about 8 feet tall and towered over us. We fanned out and cut in strips much like nibbling around the edge of a carrot, then consuming the hole. The farther we went into the swamp, the deeper the water became. Later that day as the tide came in it would be over our heads and to our middles.

Now juggling bundles of cattails out of a swamp is a discouraging and humbling experience. We elected to have a runner (runner, ha!) to circulate around the reeds and relieve them of their load so they could keep cutting. We had set up a folding aluminum table central to the operation so we could hang them with twine out of the wet. Dave was our first runner (would you believe, sooner) and developed a system for producing uniform bundles and so. "Who's 15, 20 cattails," he'd yell, "I have 40." "Here's 15," "20 here," would come the replies.

Muskrats, being subject to sunstroke, I suspected, did not venture onto the marsh — now shimmering in the noonday sun. Muskrat holes and runs were rendered invisible by the pouring tide. Dad Allen, who is given to colorful phrases was heard mumbling pure prose after an altercation with a submerged stump. "@!?!? Bullfrog Business," yelled to my ears.

Jim, who had lost his hat by this time, was turning a honey blond — his hair sparkling with tiny golden flecks. "Jim, I said, "Did you ever think about doing anything about your hair problem — like "Head and Shoulders" for instance. With an indifference born of the generation gap, Jim came back, "Have you taken a good look at yourself lately?" "You look like a survivor from a corn meal explosion." We were even.

About that time Dave came over, "Got a problem," says Dave. "I fell flat over there and broke my sunglasses. While I was groping for my knife, a muskrat swam up and snatched my wallet. I've lost a boot and besides, I think I am standing in quicksand."

I tried to be sympathetic, but I was having enormous problems of my own. My perma-press shirt was willing, my tie was muddled and frayed and my bootstraps were turning brown around the edges.

Fatigued beyond belief, we rested on the shaded bank. It was here the muskrats took their toll. For a pasture we began to count our bites. Craig said, "I've counted 18 so far — and then above the water."

Later that night in the privacy of our bath, we would experience one more phenomenon that would find us all forever to that day. There, for all to see, was a yellow ring around the bathtub.

It was Mark who summed it up. He said it for us all, "Whew, he sighed that was really something."

glass rabbit in a basket; a fine, heavy cut glass bowl with flower patterns ($45); and even a watch dome, where you may show off your treasured time piece in safety. ($3.98).

The Parrot Cage has a but-wards of Kendall Park, you will find that there are enormous closets of the brands of children's clothes that you trust, piled up to the ceiling, and at a universal 15% off the ticked prices. You really save a great deal.

For the girls, pretty party dresses, designed by Cinderella, at around $11 (less the discount). We loved a soft, over-the-shoulder, white, mauve and apricot, accented with long sleeves and a double tie of velvet. A sweet dress in Christy mussy coloring is the red and white miniprint, cut with a long bodice and gathered skirt.

Nightwear for both girls and boys, is in abundance. Bright red tartan pajamas for boys, or the argyle look in a knit top paired with solid red in the pants. (Size 8 is $5). Another is a very sporty stripe with a team number fore and aft, in cheerful, white, red, yellow, and blue mixture. ($4.50, size 1).

Edwards has culotte shape pajamas for the girls. A real charmer comes in cosy, brushed cotton. The white bodice trims a red spotted print and there is a very feminine, wide ruffle at the hem of the pajama legs. (Less than $6)

Lots of outdoor things at Edwards — mitts, gloves, caps, and fun fake fur bonnets in different styles and colors. All under $1.

Mothers and grandmothers shopping at Edwards, would do well to explore the offerings for themselves: lingerie, slippers, and tops for pants or skirts are available in extensive ranges.

And boots, boots, boots.
Among the evening things, Jacques Levine's classic sandals in gold braid, or black satin braid; and his new, open-sided pumps in gold or silver kid — a chain of sparkling circlets crosses the open side.
Subtle gold lame pumps by Hill and Dale feature a beautiful fold of fabric over the toe, held by a half buckle of glittery stones.
Nassau Shoe Tree has sleek, beautiful matching purses for the final touch. Among them a black satin purse with a touch of gold at the squared off top.

The boots come in awesome variety; many of them are the stretchable, calf hugging knee-highs. There are all-weather as well as fashion boots, ankle-highs and tall, so the choice is certainly there.

Bedroom slippers also include a number of attractive at-home slip-ons, such as the Bernardo in blue suede, brightly trimmed in gold braid, even over the low heel. See the top front slippers made in Spain for Jacques Levine, nicely styled, leather slippers in white, or pink or aqua.

For those who like scuffs, it's Omphalos, of course in colorful leather of suede look, and that heavenly cushioned — Continued On Page 30

Who Wows 'Em in P.J. & B. Hilt 'Mame!'

SWINGING PAIR: Joan Morton Lucas (who doubled as choreographer and Bob Brown in the title role are two of the many reasons why "Mame" was added last weekend to the long line of hits produced by the P.J. & B. Players. Two of the four performances were SRO.

News Of The THEATRES

GIN, happily gurgling out of the bathtub, was served in a perfect martini this time around by P.J.&B. in an interesting change from the mellow wine of "Most Happy Pella" and the nice sarsaparilla of "Music Man."

"Mame," last weekend, was 100 proof. Racy, fast, swinging, with one-socked eye on the bar and the other gently brimming with sentiment, this production of the Jerry Herman musical may well be the best P.J.&B. ever, for just wonderful, uproarious old fashioned entertainment.

The professionalism of these semi-pro P.J.&B. productions is always astonishing. The hand of the old pro Milton Lyon, directing, draws exceptional performances from people who are quite frankly amateurs in the theatre, or at most, semi-professionals.

The staff of McCarter - set designer Bill Mikulowicz, costumer Jean Vaughan, lighting man Ken Billington and the facilities of the theatre join with Mr. Lyon to give P.J.&B. offerings a Broadway aura, in the best sense of that description.

Something for Everybody. Mr. Lyon conceives of P.J.&B.

as a genuine community enterprise and so he chooses musicals with nice big casts, to give everybody a chance. And of course, the bigger the cast the less it shows that individual voices aren't professional in calibre. And the more singers and dancers you have, the more verve and electricity the show itself has. But you've got to have the skill to move them on and off stage fast, and Mr. Lyon is a tactician of the first rank in getting large groups to move fast and to move right.

He has worked with choreographer Joan Morton Lucas to weave into "Mame's" movement a series of imaginative dances, filled with spirit and genuine pizzazz. Between Mr. Lyon and Mrs. Lucas, there isn't a moment in "Mame" to catch your breath.

A dead pan Tango parody in a 20's speakeasy ends with the dancers themselves forming the paddy wagon that carts them off to the clink . . . a fox hunt with dancers in brilliant hunting "pink" races as fast as the fox himself . . . and in the wonderful "Open A New Window" Mame and her nephew Patrick, climb the framework of a tall Beekman Place window to look out over the heads of the audience into the shiny future.

The shifting years - the play spans 1928 to 1946 - allow a lot of room for dancing around. The Charleston, to be Continued on next page.

Mame is Roo Brown, a very different Mame index from Angela Lansbury or Rosalind Russell, but a great gal just the same. Instead of the worldliness and the glamour, we have an almost tomboy earthiness which is, in a way, more believable.

Beauregard Jackson Pickett Burnsides, Mame's husband, is our old friend Ashby Adams, alumnus of "Showboat" and "South Pacific" for P.J.B.B. and as smooth, suave and charmer as ever he was.

One-Liners Devastating. Vera, Mame's best friend, is the choreographer herself, Joan Morton Lucas, with a voice that's "only a baritone," and long fingernails redder from blood than polish. Some of her one-liners are delivered with devastating precision.

Students Dismayed at McCarter "Sabbatical"

About 50,000 boys and girls troop into McCarter each year to see matinees at such improbable times as 10:30 in the morning, and over the years the theatre has entertained about half-a-million youngsters — visible to townspeople only through the windows of charter buses.

A lot of these 50,000 are repeats of course — kids who come to every play in a season's repertory. And many of them are gloomy about McCarter's 1971-72 suspension of repertory.

"It has come to my attention," writes a student from Little Silver N.J., to Arthur Lithgow, executive director of the theatre, "that your excellent repertory company is going to disband for the 1971-72 season. I have seen the performance of 'Much Ado About Nothing' and 'A Raisin (see) in the Sun' and am looking forward to 'Macbeth' this spring. . . . I really wish you would reconsider leaving your post."

"I was just hoping," again from Little Silver, "that maybe you could see if the theatre could possibly stay open. Maybe you could take my letter into consideration and keep the theatre open for the benefit of other people who haven't been there yet."

From Shewsbury, a high school boy writes in hopes of urging you to continue. . . . Not only is the McCarter an excellent place for students to see plays performed but it is convenient for us to get there and the fees are modest."

It is all too true that some student audiences are unruly. Mr. Lithgow concedes. But he adds that actors often learn more from students than from more restrained adults. "You can't put anything over on the kids," Mr. Lithgow says, "if the playwright has a false note or if an actor does anything phony, those student audiences let you know it right now!"

"Nutcracker" This Weekend. Tickets still remain for this Saturday evening performance of Tchaikovsky's well-loved Christmas ballet "The Nutcracker," to be danced for Princeton by the Princeton Regional Ballet Company.

McCarter hopes to keep in tact the sell-out record for this annual production: so far, there has not been an unsold seat since the first "Nutcracker" was danced on McCarter's stage seven seasons ago. What this means in 1970 is that both Friday night and Saturday matinee are all sold.

Members of the Regional Company will be joined in this production by students from the Princeton School of Ballet. The School's director, Audrey Estey, and Lila Brunner are directing the performance of the ballet.

In the Act II Divertisse ments the Grand Pas de Deux will be danced by Dorothy Pet it Annon as the Sugar Plum Fairy and Jon Sowinski as her Cavalier. Debbie Smith and Armando Zettina will be the Snowflake Queen and King of Act I.

FUN FOR THE HOLIDAY In Youth Center Play, The Langston Hughes comedy, "Simply Heavenly" will bright en the holiday season at The Princeton Youth Center.

The players in the Center's Hansberry Arts Workshop will open with the play this Thurs day at 8:30 p.m., offering it again on Friday and Saturday at the same time.

Tickets may be reserved at the Center (924-0996). The price is $2.50 with a $1.50 student rate.

Hughes' comedy, set in Har lem, is built around his resili ent folk hero Jessie B. Simple, hero of the Simple Stories. Songs are by David Martin.

Members of the cast for the Hansberry production are Terry Steaple, William Cook, Ono Campbell, John Harris, Frances Gooding, Pat White, Lynette Campbell, Portia Ed wards, Carolyn Adams, Willie Williams, Carl Drummond and Rodney Caldwell.

Set designs are by Sylvester Vincent and Sam Pearson and costumes have been executed by Jo Woadley, of Improvisa tion Boutique.

REPEATS FOR STUDENTS OF Two Repertory Plays, "All My Sams" and "A Raisin in the Sun" will be held over through January at McCarter so that high school students who couldn't attend one of the fall presentations will have a chance to see the plays.

Both productions will also have an more public perform ance, "All My Sams" on Sun day, January 10 at 3 p.m. and "A Raisin in the Sun" on Sun day, January 24 at 3 p.m.

During the repertory season, McCarter gives three to five daytime performances each week for junior and senior high school students from New Jersey, New York and Penn sylvania. Frequently students remain after the play to talk with actor and director, or to make a tour of backstage.

Also during the spring, Mc Carter will offer a production of "Macbeth," specifically de signed for high school stud ents. It isn't included in the regular subscription series, but there will be three per formances for the general pub lic: on Sunday, January 31 at 3 p.m.; Saturday, February 6 at 8:30 and Friday, February 19 at 8:30.

John Lithgow, who directed a McCarter "As You Like It" not long ago and "Much Ado About Nothing" last season, is in charge of this "Macbeth." He will use original electronic music, commissioned special ly for the production.

"HAMLET"

From Beyond the Fringe. The "Hamlet" that Jonathan Miller will bring to McCarter for a single performance Tues day, January 5, is being billed as "highly unorthodox," and if you've seen Dr. Miller's pro ductions of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Twelfth Night," you'll know how to define "unorthodox."

The Oxford Cambridge Company, consisting of 30 students from those two universities, will present the play. The company was formed to combine the acting talents of the two institutions for the purpose of a Shakespeare tour of American college campuses.

Dr. Miller, who appeared in and helped to write "Beyond the Fringe" has been concentrating lately on Shakespeare. On the other hand, he's been writing drama criticism for The New Yorker and preparing a critical study of Marshall McLuhan.

For the McCarter presentation, there will be a special student ticket rate available to high school and undergraduate college students. Students should present identification at the box office to qualify for the reduced price.

BECKETT AT BRECHT
Two Plays. Two infrequent ly performed plays by Nobel winner Samuel Beckett are now playing at 61 Albany St., New Brunswick, in the Brecht West coffeehouse theatre.

"Play," the first offering, is a three-character piece about a man, his wife and mistress as they try to answer questions that have no answer. The search, in Beckett fashion, is mysterious and frequently comic.

"Cascando," the second play, is described by its director, West director Eric Krebs, as "a work that proves the relationship between an artist and the work he creates." It will be presented with special effects in sound and lighting.

The two plays will be given this Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 8:30 p.m. Additional performances have been scheduled for 10:30 p.m. this Friday and Saturday. Reservations may be made by calling 201 828-2750.

PLAYHOUSE

Move (now playing, thru Dec. 23) Elliott Gould as dog walker, unproduced playwright and writer of pornography comes through in another insane comedy on the human condition.

The move is from a little apartment to more ambitious quarters, and Gould is unnerved by the multiplicity of details negotiations with the movers with the painter, the telephone company. My whole stinking life makes me sick to my stomach," he wails. "My whole existence is scatological."

When his wife, played by Paula Prentiss, tells him he's over-reacting (she's a psychiatrist's secretary), his sole comfort is the shaggy dog Murphy.

The action is fast: Gould vis-its the new apartment where the painter has quit, strips off his clothes and bursts into song as he slaps green paint on the wall; then dashes back to the old flat where he argues with his wife and is suddenly struck by the idea that the new apartment is being robbed. He collects his dog charges from their various owners and dashes over. So it goes, one thing after another, much of it brilliant comedy, poking fun at the life style of the city dweller.

GARDEN THEATRE

Putney Swope (this Wed., Thurs. & Fri.) is a satire that drew crowds in New York City when it opened in July, 1969, and played the Garden for four weeks last winter.

It has a zany, episodic plot centering upon a power shift from white to black in a large advertising agency on Madison Avenue.

The shift is entirely accidental. Board members, casting votes for a new president spitefully write in the name of the man they think least likely to receive a vote from any one else. Thus, Putney Swope, a black, becomes head of the "Truth & Soul Agency."

His brothers and sisters wear African dashikis, grey flannels, cowboy and Arah du. The ads they turn out spoof our tenderest misconceptions. Such as the one with the couple who met at a Yale Howard game, praising the wonders of Face-Off Pimple Cream.

The director Robert Downey, attacks all the hang-ups of both black and white America.

Z (This Sat. thru next Wed., Dec. 23) is a French made melodrama about a political assassination that took place in Greece in 1963. It has an astonishing number of parallels to events in present day U.S.A.

A professor of medicine at the University of Athens, Gregorios Lambrakis, is the leader of a pacifist movement. Struck down by a truck as he leaves the hall where he has made a speech, his death is officially called "an accident" by the anxious government.

In a fascinating documentary style, "Z" reveals the means by which the truth is uncovered, largely through the efforts of a journalist-photographer and a dedicated magistrate. The trail is followed with all the excitement of a top notch whodunnit.

Vives Montant appears as The Deputy, Irene Pappas as Helene, with Jean Louis Trin ugnant, Charles Denner, Renato Salvatore and others, all top actors—in the cast. Costa Gavras is director and co-writer of the film script with Jorge Semprin. Mikis Theodorakis supplies a musical score that throbs with tension.

Do you want to believe in God?

You can. Not just because of what someone says about God. But because of what you yourself can learn and prove about divine Love. Like the woman who was instantly freed by an exorcism one night — when she turned to God in prayer. Or the entertainer whose back was healed through prayer after he was told he couldn't walk without surgery. These individuals found that divine Love meets even the most challenging human needs... that powerful spiritual laws are available for anyone to use. You can learn more of these laws by reading this week's Bible Lesson.

sole. We also liked the "la boutique" in a suede; the top is edged with plush and crisscrossed with a self tie. We noticed blue and sand colors.

If you are looking for gift purposes, the Nassau Shoe Tree has some excellent buys in the Palazzo handbags. The tone is hard, and there is usually an accent of bright brass, handled austere, elegantly.

Richard's Shoes, on Nassau Street near Vandewater, has ladies' boots by Brecht and Bully. Two firms well aware of young minded styles. There are suedes and leathers, with five types of the lace-up "drammy" boots. The colors are black, browns and grays, and prices begin at about $27. Among the Bully boots is a glamorous patent leather in dark dark brown, cut with a very high leg and a tall heel. There's a buckle decoration at the knee. ($19.50) And by Brecht, antiqued brown boots with a seasonally red (and warming) lining. There's a copy buckle on the ankle strap for extra dash. Medium heel. ($29.50)

And among the Capozzio, the quick lace in dark brown, with the medium stacked heel. Warm lined and waterproofed against winter's lush. From Italy $37. The men's department has equal distinction.

Home And Hearth

At Johnson Electric Tuna Street, we saw the new electric coffee mills that are proving to be one of the shop's most popular items. There's a container at the top giving visible bean supply, and the ground coffee empties into a measured container. By Kitchen Aid. ($25.98)

We liked the General Electric toaster ovens, great for heating a TV dinner or frozen beef pies as well as for toasted sandwiches. ($38.98) Also the two and four slice electric toasters, all nicely styled.

Johnson Electric sells Time-alls, the burglar lights that turn on for you while you're away. We were told that a Princeton woman is giving these to all her friends. We also found here the traveler's delight, the GE portable spray steam iron. Works on AC and DC. $16.98. Also electric blankets, heating pads, electric coffee pots that can be dunked into the sofa, and the powerful little heater fan that is a treasure all year around ($36.98) All by GE.

A busy woman or a traveler will be delighted with the "wrinkle remover" by General

Need a Ship's Sale?

Craig Miller Interiors at 240 Nassau Street has an antique iron sea chest safe that weighs over 250 pounds. It closes with double hasps in front and, for extra security, turn the handle in the key hole in the center of the lid. This moves a batch of pointed iron teeth into a lock position inside the chest.

We saw an unusual, while we were there, some Houthraken prints from the 17th's. Small boxes that look, two The Mary Sully paintings, and the modern modern Schindler or crystal. Also, do you know who wants a set of armor?

Electric. It steams away the wrinkles in clothing. And also the Bates, Herdman spreads on sale! The fine old traditional pattern comes in natural colors.

We considered carefully the stuffed bedrests in various fabrics, and the decorative pillows, all with very varied fabrics and interesting detail.

Home Decor will show you decorative waste baskets in the Italian style gold and white finish that are very attractive. Eight-sided wood, the basket could double as an ideal container for an arrangement of tall dried bulrushes and way side finds, or for Christmas boughs with hanging decorations.

Stone's Linen Shop on Nassau Street maintains its usual standard of enchanting gift items for the hostess, or any woman you may think of.

Among the Christmasy things, which are not very abundant in the shops this year, we found delightful guest towels in terry down. Some are embroidered with the names of the bride and groom, others with Christmas wreaths. Boxed in sets.

Stone's Linen Shop has delicately lovely luncheon mats in plastic with the linen look. Pointed against a white background, with four white real linen napkins ($9.50). There are so many charming trays, from quaint or outdoorsy to elegant designs of scrolled lines.

We liked the handpainted tumblers, and the sets of salad bowls, serving bowl and tray in all over prints with the pressed linen look. Very rare.

unably priced, as are the aprons for men or for women.

Stone's will show you huge laundry bag for your student away at school. Prints of the Union Jack or wild tigers are available. To further encourage neatness, there are shoe bags, including a flying Snuppy for the young set.

We found smock aprons for small fry; blankets of pure Merino wool ($22.50); fine linen handkerchiefs with a touch of Vole embroidery; linen wall hangings for children's with little sayings on them (for a tiger in the woodland), all only $1, and enchanting bins for the very young ($1.25).

If you're in need of very fine, embroidered linen, you'll be delighted with boxes and boxes of marvelous, incredibly beautiful pieces the Stones will show you.

Debut by Opera Theater Highly Successful

During the past several days, a special musical event has occurred in Princeton that has gone almost unnoticed. Mozart's "singepet" opera, "the Abduction from the Seraglio," received four performances at Murray Theatre sponsored by Theatre Intimic last Friday and Sunday nights and Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The production was managed by the under 30 generation, consisting mostly of students and included a full orchestra and operatic cast. Though some professional singers were employed, their performances did not necessarily outshine those given by the students in the other roles. With the establishment of the Princeton University Opera stanza, Judy Hubbell as Blonde, George Livings as Belmonte, Rufus Hallmark as Belmonte's servant, Pedrillo, John Bogart as Omin, James LaFeria as Selim Pasha and Richard Ferragio in the non singing role as the mule guard in the service of the Pasha. Sylvia Floyd and Judy Hubbell both sopranos, and George Livings, tenor, were the only professional members of the cast. The Princeton University Orchestra was directed by Gilbert I. Levine. Stage direction was under the guidance of John Lathgow, son of Mr. Carter Theatre's Arthur Lathgow, and a splendid young actor in his own right. The Princeton University Opera Theater Chorus completed the casting and performed admirably.

MUSIC In Princeton

Theater, a new and important musical force has arrived in Princeton, and its first full length project, the performance of Mozart's "Abduction from the Seraglio," must be recorded a complete success.

In brief, the plot of the opera centers around the unsuccessful attempt of the young gallant, Belmonte, to recapture his beloved, Constanza, who is being held prisoner by Selim Pasha, a Turkish slave trader. Posing as an architect, he makes contact with his faithful servant, Pedrillo, also captured, and the two plan to rescue Constanza and Blonde, Constanza's maid. These four are not the only main characters, for there is the very comical Omin, ever seer in the service of the Pasha, a thoroughly suspicious man, and of course, the Pasha himself. Though the rescue plot is foiled, the magnanimous Pasha, who is very attracted to Constanza, allows the four lovers to return free to their home land, even though Belmonte's father, the Commandant of Oran, had previously banished Selim Pasha from his former kingdom.

Written in 1782, the opera was composed in 1782 when Mozart was 36 and it is astounding for its charm, color and continuity. The cast included Sylvia Floyd as Con-

stanza, Judy Hubbell as Blonde, George Livings as Belmonte, Rufus Hallmark as Belmonte's servant, Pedrillo, John Bogart as Omin, James LaFeria as Selim Pasha and Richard Ferragio in the non singing role as the mule guard in the service of the Pasha. Sylvia Floyd and Judy Hubbell both sopranos, and George Livings, tenor, were the only professional members of the cast. The Princeton University Orchestra was directed by Gilbert I. Levine. Stage direction was under the guidance of John Lathgow, son of Mr. Carter Theatre's Arthur Lathgow, and a splendid young actor in his own right. The Princeton University Opera Theater Chorus completed the casting and performed admirably.

One must mention here that, the "singepet" opera provides for a great deal of speaking portions in addition to singing, something quite similar to the operetta or "musical" of our popular theater of today. Perhaps the only true weakness was in the performance of Miss Floyd, as Constanza.

The coloratura writing which Mozart provided Constanza in the first act was simply too difficult for Miss Floyd to execute adequately at this stage in her development. She gained in stature, however, in the second act, with her tender rendition of the beautiful mournful aria in the early portion of the first scene of Act II, but again in the third act, she was unable to carry her voice in the duets or quartets — sparkling Mozartian gems, by the way. Her acting suffered also from a stiffness in her gait, and the rigidity in her facial expressions.

John Bogart as O-min, presently a junior at Princeton University, did amazing things with his role. He has a fine bass voice and acts well.

He is the comic of the opera but it is not an easy role to bring off. Rufus Hallmark, a graduate student, has a very

ART In Princeton

TO SEE AND BUY
At Studio-on-the-Canal. A combination exhibit sale of works by Rex Goreleigh, director of the Studio on the Canal, his faculty of instructors and his students, is now on view at the Studio, Lower Alexander Street.

With Christmas giving in mind, Mr. Goreleigh has assembled ceramics, watercolors, oils and serigraphs ranging upward in price from $9.

Spunky Edgerly, a Studio instructor has a group of small bowls and jugs about three inches high for $6-$10.
With one of these, for $12, a bouquet of metal flowers goes along with the vase.

One of the most intriguing items in the show is "Tug Boat" (1953) a wall relief of metal figures, juggling on each side but Mr. Edgerly prefers not to call it a tug of war. Hung out from a white wall, the small freeze casts, delightful shadows.

Glean Cullen, another instructor, presents a small cast bronze nude, some 12 inches long ($100) and he is represented by a bronze bas-relief as well.

From Mr. Goreleigh's own palette, the Studio is showing a watercolor of the Groves Mall, fishing pond and bridge and another watercolor which is a study for a large oil of the country land scape as seen from the appeared in the Ford Mobile. The local scenes are particularly evocative for residents or travelers in the area.

A portrait study in oil of Martin Luther King Jr. by Mr. Goreleigh and a Mother and Child study for a more formal painting are also in the gallery.

A serigraph of a charming apple orchard in spring is from Mr. Goreleigh and so is a small nude figure executed in oil (1970).

From the present view of the Studio one day of a model from India, three students have produced portrait studies in oil, capturing the expressions of native costume.
These portraits are around $60.

A still life (1953) by Asako Furuta, a minor, an Italian wine bottle with grapefruit in subdued composition. This artist also exhibits an oil of spring folding fields.

John Drury has done delicate miniature watercolor of a white silk. One at $20, is a four-inch square, framed. Another, at $35 is slightly larger. These finely drawn miniatures have the quiet and quiet air of another era in art.

The Studio on the Canal gallery is located in the main house, and is open from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, and by appointment 1970-1971 weekdays.

P.A.A. SIGNS UP BYE
For Art Class. Randolph Bye, American watercolor-ist, will teach a Wednesday morning class in the funda-mentals of watercolor for beginners and advanced students in the Princeton Art Association's winter series of classes.

The classes will begin January 11 and continue through March 5. Registration may be made until Tuesday, January, January 5 at the Assn. of the headquarters, 3 Spring Street. For detailed information, see advertise-

Mr. Bye, who was born in Princeton, now makes his home in Doylestown, Pennsylvania. He has exhibited widely in such national exhibitions as those of the National Academy of Design, the American Watercolor Society and Audubon Artists.
In the years between 1953 and 1964 he had five shows at the Grand Central Art Gallery in New York.
He has designed Christmas cards for the American Art

JOIN THE COOKIE BAKE
At Gallery 100. A demonstration of the baker's artful ways with Christmas cookies will be held from 1 to 3 p.m.
this Saturday at Gallery 100, 100 Nassau Street.
Ike and Philip Johnson, who have been creating whimsical designs in holiday cookies for the past 15 years at family bake-ins, will demonstrate baker's techniques, including imprinting.
Mrs. Johnson is best known here for her work in ceramics; Mr. Johnson's field is industrial design. Their cookie sculptures are angels.

pleasing tenor voice and fine projection in the speaking role. He served admirably as a compliment to Mr. Livings.

The performance was relatively well paced and the conductor, Mr. Levine, managed to bring out many of the subtleties of Mozart's scoring, but in several places, most notably in the duets, trios and quartets on stage, he drove the orchestra a bit too hard and the volume tended to overshadow the singing efforts by a considerable margin.

This reviewer saw Monday night's performance and his remarks are merely a reflection of that evening's interpretation. Murray Theatre, incidentally, seems ideal acoustically for performances of chamber opera and it is hoped that this fine young organization will be encouraged to attempt more in this genre.

CLUB News

Women's Club of Princeton: Christmas meeting This day at 1:30 p.m. at the Sarine Club.

Mrs. Ann C. Sturke assisted by her husband, will give a slide illustrated lecture describing their recent visit to the Holy Land.

Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. E. W. Yeoman, chairman and Mrs. A. W. Hartley, decorations chairman. They will be assisted by Mesdames L. E. Burnham, F. L. Cuthbert, J. H. Dillon, L. E. Flory, G. A. Freda, G. Lockyer, A. R. Morgan, N. J. Reed, W. H. Rhodes, E. H. Rian, E. Schulz, J. D. Schwartz, P. S. Sacensson, W. F. Voorhes, Jr., K. P. Wilson and Miss Jeanne M. Wright.

East Windsor Chapter of ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) will sponsor its first Square Dance on January 30: Princeton's "The Dons" will go to help students in ORT schools. The event will give us training in more than 70 skills or modern industry. The trades taught vary according to the needs of the particular area's economy. For more information call 488-1736.

Friday Club: this week in the ball parlor room of the YWCA. A Christmas luncheon will be served at 12:30 followed by the singing of Christmas Carols by the Opposite Sex. Dr. Lee H. Bristol Jr. will present a program, "What Are You Going to Give for Christmas?" There will also be an exchange of gifts and members are requested to bring one.

The newly organized Delaware Valley Poets, chapter of the New Jersey Poetry Society has met and elected officers for the year of 1971. The group met last summer for the first time, launching the organization to satisfy the increasing demand for a poetry club that the general public may join. Officers for 1971 are: Dick Eldridge, President; Dan McElwain, Vice President; Marjorie Turner, Secretary; Nathan Tischler, Treasurer; Gloria deVecchio, Secretary.

The program for next year has begun and members are planning to enter the World Poetry Contest for January. Meetings will deal with the reading and writing of new and old poems, how to submit poetry for publication and contests, analysis and study of all forms, up to and including modern poetry.

Interested persons may call Dan McElwain, at 896-1866, for information, or attend the next meeting at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, December 17, at the Firestone Library, Princeton University.

The Garden Club of Princeton will hold a Christmas French Market in the park at the top of Mercer Street this Thursday from 9 to 3. (Bad weather date is Friday) Wreaths, fresh-cut greens, potted ivies, and bird furniture as well as specialties baked by members of the club will be on sale. Proceeds will go toward a handbook describing Herrontown Wood to be published by the Princeton University Press and designed by P. J. Conkwright. It will be dedicated to the late Sarah B. Hart, former president of the Garden Club and an ardent conservationist.

International Club: 8:30, Thursday, at the YMCA. The club will hold its annual Christmas party and dance. A live band will provide music and refreshments will be served. Admission: $1.50.

Horn." Jeffrey R. Coad, a student teacher from Westminster Choir College, will conduct this group.

Continuing from the balcony, the Freshman Girls' Chorus will sing two numbers — a medieval Dutch melody, "O Morning Stars So Bright," and "Gloria" by Dufay. The Freshman Girls' Chorus and the Men's Choir will combine to sing Randall Thompson's "Glory to God in the Highest."

Richard M. Loatman, assisting in the vocal music department at Princeton High School, will conduct them. This will be the first time these two groups have been presented together in the Winter Concert.

The Madrigal Singers will present two carols — "Carol of the Bells" and "Echo Carol" — under William Trego's direction.

From the Instrumental Department, the Clarinet Ensemble, under the direction of Walter Horner, will present three pieces. They are Grieg's "An Der Wiege," the Sonata in F minor by Telemann and Mozart's "Menuetto."

The High School Orchestra, conducted by Sylvan Friedman, will then present Vivaldi's "Concerto for Two Oboes and Strings" and the Choral Prelude "Sleepers, Wake" by J. S. Bach.

The High School Girls' Chorus made up of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors will present the "Magnificat" by Nicola Porpora, accompanied by a string orchestra chosen from the Instrumental Department and Mrs. Nancianne Farrells, organist.

OTHER PAPERS will run your classifieds for half price, or for nothing if they do not sell. IN TOWN TOPICS, you'll find more ads and better results.

The traditional cantillation processional of the Choir will be the music of J. S. Bach's choral prelude from Orgelbuchlein "Jesu Meine Freude," BWV 610.

The Choir will then perform J. S. Bach's third motet, "Jesu Meine Freude" in German, a cappella. Mr. Trego, chairman of the Vocal Music Department, will conduct.

Finally, all the choruses and the alumni from P.H.S. will sing "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" and the "Halleluiah Chorus" from the "Messiah." No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend.

BOYCHOIR TO SING

At White House, The Columbia Boychoir will be the guests of the President and Mrs. Nixon at the White House, in a special Christmas presentation for the first family. White House staff and departments. The appearance at the White House will be the high point of a busy week for America's Singing Boys. Wednesday, December 23, they will appear on the Johnny Carson Show, Channel 4, at 11:30 p.m. This Wednesday, December 16, they were set to appear on David Frost, at 8:30 on Channel 5.

In between all this the boy choir will give performances of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at the Lincoln Center, New York, on Friday and Saturday and at McCarrie Theatre on Tuesday, accompanied by a New York orchestra. Performances at McCarrie will be given at 2:30 and 8:30. Tickets are at the box office.

Martin Gerber is Amahl; Jeffrey Smith, the Page; Alexandra Hunt, mother; Hervey Hicks, King Melchior; John Lankston, King Casper; and Salvatore Tomas, King Balazar. Stage direction is by Dennis Rosa, an associate of Gian Carlo Menotti, the composer of the opera.

A Edward Battaglia is headmaster of the Boychoir School and Donald Hanson, musical director.

CAROLING IN RUSSIAN

By Newly Formed Chorus. The Princeton Russian Chorus was scheduled to make its first public appearance this Wednesday evening, December 16, in a series of three programs of Russian Christmas music. The 25-voice chorus group will perform at Merwick at 7:30, at the Carrier Clinic an hour later and will climax the evening with a carolling program in front of the Nassau Inn at approximately 9:30.

Created and directed by Daniel Skvir, Russian teacher at Princeton Day School, the chorus performs all selections in Russian or Little Russian. It has been in rehearsal this fall at the school.

The program opens with "Bless the Lord, Oh, My Soul," excerpt from Psalm 104, as sung in the traditional Vigil Service of the Orthodox Church. The chorus will then sing five folk carols. The final offering is the centuries-old Little Russian original of the carol known in English as the "Carol of the Bells."

Mr. Skvir, who founded the Russian Chorus this fall, is a graduate of Princeton University. On the Princeton Day School faculty for two years, he is an ordained deacon in the Russian Orthodox Church in America, and directs the choir at the Orthodox Chapel on campus.

Special Gifts

Hamilton Jewelers in Trenton has the most unusual greeting card, made by the Franklin Mint near Philadelphia.

These are limited edition medals in nickel silver $2.00 or solid bronze $3.50. There's also the Christmas Intol for 1970, first of a Franklin series: solid sterling silver bar with a frosted proof finish enhanced by sculptured skaters. ($12)

The greeting cards open like traditional cards, with the metal inset. There's a beautiful snow scene, a nativity, a peace medal, and also a Hannakhan medal. In sterling silver, the individual proofs are $10 each, or in a set of four, $37.50. Hamilton Jewelers will also show you a classic set of Christmas medals by Carlos Sierra-Franko, "The Twelve Days of Christmas." From the partridge in the pear tree to the lords-a-leaping, each of the legendary gifts of Christmas is shown on a separate medal. Each medal (one and one half inches in diameter) is encased in a lucite leadcard that may be hung from the tree. ($35 in bronze; $150 in sterling silver, and $15,000 platinum.)

The Franklin Mint items are exclusive with Hamilton Jewelers, and are the first of this kind that the Mint has produced.

At Thorne's Pharmacy on Nassau Street, and also at the West Windsor store, there are

Why not bring home a SNOW PUP (for only $114.95*) and put him to work?

He'll have you whistling a new tune . . . "It's so nice to have a pup around the house."

specialty boxed items in ladies' perfumery. The prices start at $3.00 for Matchabelli's "Wind Song" perfume and matching spray mist cologne. Dream through the Yves Saint Laurent "Rive Gauche," "Diorissance" by Dior; Frances Donney's famous fragrance, "Interlude," or any of the great names you can think of, almost.

For men, there's Dior's "Eau Sauvage," and the justly famous Fanene hair grooming travel kits. Or choose "English Leather" in several scents.

We saw a big choice of mirrors for the well-groomed gentleman. "The Flip" combines two mirrors, actually, adding stage dressingroom lights ($20). We thought the Touch in Dry nail polish in a bright idea for a girl in a hurry. ($12.88)

Elizabeth Arden products are at Nassau Pharmacy, as well as Chanel, Givenchy, and Rochas. There's a new Elizabeth Arden fragrance for men too, and don't forget Monsieur Rochas, English Leather here, too, a firm favorite among the men.

Pucci, for something different, includes a spray perfume at $17. The wrappings have the characteristic print look.

Other lines at Nassau Pharmacy include Maja: all red, black and gold, with much flashing of fans and Spanish airs; and Coty's "Imprevue," with the 1800's Parisian poster theme. There are hived soaps: colognes, perfumes, and so on.

And many small things for curious age groups (most under $5): a bonnet to hide Miss Teen's hairset; and a matching curler lady; Swiss embroidered perfume sachets; todac jigsaws; the Andrew Richard demitasse collection in very pretty china; and candy in various amusing containers from a red kettle to a Wells Fargo safe.

At Marsh Pharmacies, Nassau Street and in the Montgomery Shopping Center, there's also a wide selection of perfumes and lotions. Among them Chanel; the famous "Arpege" by Lanvin; Yardley in so many attractive scents and packagings; "Jungle Gardenia" by Tuvaiche (includes a nice soap); colognes by Roger & Gallet; and so many more.

The centuries old cologne, "4711" comes in a glycerine soap as well, we thought we'd tell you, and also look into the "Alo" cosmetics for skin problem-prone girls and women.

Slightly-Frayed Tigers Need a Taylor to Dress Them Up

Princeton's basketball team, its record now even at 2-2, is going west this week with our knowing whether it will be able to put its best foot forward. Brian Taylor, without whom the Tigers do not play impressively, sprained an ankle in practice Friday and sat out virtually all of the games against Navy and NYU. His availability is a day-to-day proposition.

With the sophomore star on the bench, the Tigers barely averted defeat by Navy, winning 52-49 in the final seconds, and required tipoff accuracy from the foul line to trim NYU, 78-58. Both of the losing quintets outshot the Orange and Black from the floor in Jadwin Gym.

The Tigers will open their transcontinental tour Thursday night against St. Louis University. Next day, they'll be on a plane for Palo Alto, Calif., to play Stanford and Sunday will find them en route to Tennessee to take on Memphis State. That game is set for Monday, the 21st.

A 10-day break will follow, with action resuming in New York on the night of Saturday, January 2, when they play Fordham. The Ivy League schedule opens here 48 hours later when defending champion Penn comes to Jadwin for what should be a pretty good ball game.

Information is slim on the Tigers' next three opponents, but none of them ranks in the top 20 teams nationally and off their early performances against Duke and Villanova they could win any of these games. The exigencies of travel would, however, make it highly unlikely that they will win all three.

Princeton lost the only game it played against St. Louis in the latter part of the season. The Tigers defeated Stanford in the lone meeting with the Californians, a couple of seasons back, and are playing Memphis State for the first time.

Record in Reverse Set. Jadwin Gym records will fall rarely frequently in view of its tender age (less than a two years) and one was broken when Princeton and Navy managed only 101 points between them. The previous low saw the Tigers on the losing side: Villanova 60, Princeton 46, a year ago this month.

The half-time score (24-22 for the Tigers) may also have been a low mark, but records kept in that detail. Throughout the evening, there were only the rarest moments of good basketball — Princeton generally finding itself in trouble because it could hit on

When Taylor left the floor 30 seconds after the opening tip-off because of his ankle sprain, it was apparent almost immediately that Princeton could not function properly without him. With eight minutes gone, neither team was yet in double figures; with 13 minutes chalked off by the occasional malfunctioning clock, it was Princeton 15, Navy 12.

In the early going of the second half, the home team showed only brief signs of ability as the open man (either Manakas or Daake) hit with some consistency, and Navy turned cold. At 6:18 of the final round, the Orange and Black had a 42-31 lead and should have retained control for the rest of the evening.

Navy Takes Charge. Instead Princeton sought to sit on its lead. Manakas could not control the middle captain, Jack Conrad, and the visitors gradually all but erased their deficit. Failing to make a field goal in the last 11 minutes, the Tigers saw Navy creep up on them until they were desperately intercepting a 50 to 47 lead with 40 seconds left.

Navy cut the margin to one on a pair of free throws and had a chance to win when Manakas lost the ball with 17 seconds left. The visitors could not, however, launch more than one off-target shot against the light Princeton defense, and when Sickler was fouled with one second left, that was the ball game. He converted both shots on a one-and-one situation to make it a 52-49 final.

When a team with a propensity for fouling is matched against two or more highly capable free-throw artists, it almost invariably loses, and that was the factor which overruled NYU's apparent Monday night. The Violets committed 24 personal, most of them in a one-and-one situation, and Ted Manakas and Captain Bill Sickler combined for 22 points from the foul line.

Manakas made 13 for a Jadwin Gym mark, and Princeton's team total of 28 was like wise a floor record. The Orange and Black hit on 88% of its foul shots, enabling it to pull away comfortably late in the second half after having been held to a 34-all deadlock in the first 20 minutes. The visitors sank 28 field goals, three more than Princeton, but were in foul trouble with almost 10 minutes to go in each period.

Manakas posted a 25-point total, despite sitting a portion of the action in both halves when he collected three early personal. Sickler added 15, Bill Kapler and Bill Daake had 14 and 11 to balance out the attack.

At the ten-minute mark in the final round, Princeton had a slim 51-47 lead, but in the next six minutes, the Tigers outscored the visitors, 19 to 10, handing the injury-slowed New Yorkers their fourth defeat in six games.

Skaters Still Searching for First Victory But Faithful Rink Rats Back Them Solidly

Once hopeful that it might win half of its first six games Princeton's hockey team headed for New England this week faced with the possibility that its 0-4 record might drop to 0-6 by the time the Christmas-break on the schedule arrives.

The Tigers were scheduled to open their Ivy League action Wednesday night against Brown at Providence. Two nights later, they will play Northeastern in the Boston Arena.

Brown lost a number of fine players through graduation, but nonetheless managed an upset of Cornell ten days ago. Down 2-0 when the third period began, the Bruins scored three times and held on to end a streak of 35 consecutive league victories by the Red.

While chances of a victory by Princeton, Wednesday were considered slim, the Orange and Black stands a better chance of breaking out of the losing column Friday night against Northeastern. The Huskies are by no means an eastern power and the degree of success the Tigers achieve will be measured by the extent that they play some semblance of hustling hockey.

Troubles Multiply. As is so often the case when fortunes fluctuate, Princeton's problems on defense have been compounded by lack of a coordinated attack. Losses last week to Army and Rensselaer Polytech by respective scores of 12 and 5-3 set the total output of goals in four games at 16. Only a team with a superb defense would be likely to win two or three games in the face of such a scoring drought, and while Princeton's defense has been tagged with a number of adjectives, none of them sounds like "superb."

The hard fact of the matter is that in their four outings this season, the Tigers have played just three periods of good hockey, the first two against St. Lawrence, which they led, 4-3, before falling apart in the final round, and the last against RPI. But in the closing 20 minutes Saturday in Baker Rink, they merely narrowed the gap from 5-2 to 5-3 and succeeded only in proving that if they care enough, they can give a good account of themselves.

RPI opened the scoring at 9:25 of the first period, beating goalie Ed Swift to climax a close in scrimmage.

Wednesday, December 16
Princeton at Brown

Three minutes later, the visitors were a man short when John McLean put the Tigers on the board with a flick shot from just outside the crease.

Before the round ended, however, the visitors (who have beaten Cornell and tied Clarkson) were away to a 3-1 lead and the Tigers always trailed by at least two goals for the rest of the afternoon. The trouble they have mounting an attack was clearly reflected in the final two minutes, which RPI played with a man in the bin. Princeton never got a shot on goal and the closest thing to a score was recorded by the visitors on a breakaway.

Penalties Hurt at West Point. Army, which like Princeton, counts a 500 record a big one on ice, had not won this season until it rolled by the Tigers on the strength of a four goal second period. The teams were deadlocked at 1-1 when McLean scored for the Orange and Black 36 seconds after that round began, but the cadets got the next three to settle matters. In the space of a minute and 16 seconds, Princeton drew four penalties, one of them a misconduct to Captain Tom MacMillan for venturing an opinion to one of the officials on the way he was calling the game.

Despite its mediocre hockey, the Tiger sextet has a viciously loyal bunch of Rink Rats hoping for better days. When Jack McNab scored in the third period to cut the margin against RPI to 5-3 with eight minutes left, the appreciation was loud and long. Some day, maybe that sort of faithfulness will be rewarded.

EIGHT SCHOOLS READY For Lawrenceville Tourney. The Lawrenceville School's 23rd annual hockey tournament will begin this Friday, with eight secondary schools from this country and Canada competing for the championship.

Defending champion Upper Canada College of Toronto will return along with Trinity College School of Port Hope, Ont., a three-time winner, to represent Canada. Four New England schools, Belmont Hill, Choate, Deerfield, and Taft, plus Nichols School of Buffalo, N.Y. and host school Lawrenceville will round out the field.

Games will begin at 9:30 a.m. with Lawrenceville up against Upper Canada at Lavinio Rink and Deerfield meeting Taft at Baker Rink. At 11 a.m. Belmont Hill will face Trinity and Nichols will oppose Cloate.

Winners of Friday morning contests will advance to the semi-finals Friday night, while the losers will play Friday afternoon. The consolation final will be played at 11 a.m. Saturday morning. The championship at 2:30 that afternoon, both in Baker Rink. Tickets will be available at the door for all games.

The Lawrenceville team has 14 players from this area, including Captain Billy Koch, Buff Burchfield, John Davis, Mark Klee, Jim Fitzpatrick, Randy Koch, John O'Donoghue and Bruce Willard from Princeton; Bruce and Scott Quackenbush, sons of Princeton coach Bill Quackenbush from Rocky Hill; Chris Brewster, Dave Jackson, and Mike Waidor from Lawrenceville; and Joe Nonnan from Hightstown. All but two are products of John Bernard's Princeton Pee-Wee hockey program. Freddie Erdman, grandson of the Hockey Tournament Chairman, Charles R. Erdman, and another product of the Pee-wee program, plays for Taft.

PHS MATMEN WIN FIRST
Hopewell Valley Next, Princeton High School, which scored a decision and a pin in its last two bouts to defeat Ewing Friday, will next travel to Pennington to take on the Bulldogs of Hopewell Valley High School.

The meet will be held Tuesday evening at 8. A varsity match will precede the varsity contest.

Ahead, 19-18, entering the final two bouts with Ewing. PHS got a 5-0 decision from Larry Parker in the 178-pound class and a pin from heavy-weight Loudohn Rossi, its premier wrestler. Rossi pinned his man in 5:55—five seconds before the end of the match. The final score was 27-18.

"We'll do all right," observed coach Tom Murray after the match. "We'll take our lumps when we go against the better clubs but I think our record will be comparable to other seasons."

Two other highlights for PHS in the Ewing match were the performances of freshman Phil Ebersole and co-captain Dave MacDonald. Ebersole gained the nod over teammate Gary Asano, who had wrestled in the spot last year, and turned in a creditable 6-2 decision.

MacDonald did everything but pin his man in the 115-pound class, walking off the mat with a lopsided 14-0 decision. "It's the best he's ever wrestled," said Murray. He added that it was clearly evident on this particular night that MacDonald was the best wrestler in the meet from either school.

Evans Tied 3-3. PHS started off with five easy points when Ewing defaulted the 98-pound class to Andy Follini. In the 123-pound match, Princeton's Tommy Evans seemed safely home with a 2-0 decision when he fell into a near pin. The bout ended in a 3-3 tie.

Chris Cissard lost, 4-0, in the 130-pound class, but Howie Heltner came back to edge his man, 2-1, in the 136-pound limit to win his first varsity bout. Then the Blue Devils started to come on.

Pete Hague and Wes MacClain, 141 and 157 pounds were pinned in between. Larry Ritchey won, 3-2, in the 148-pound class but John Hodge was an unexpected loser in the 168-pound division. MacClain was a last minute substitute when the regular 157-pounder, veteran Isaac Menasche, suddenly quit the team, telling Murray he was tired of having to make his weight. MacClain normally wrestles at 141. Murray hopes to replace Menasche with Phil Nullner.

In a jayvee match, a decision in the final bout would have given Ewing a come-from-behind 24-23 victory, but PHS heavyweight John Drummond dashed any Blue Devil hopes when he pinned his man. The final score was PHS 28, Ewing 21.

THIS VS. PHS FRIDAY

In PHS Gym at 3:45, PHS, 0-2 in its first two starts, will take on the scourge of Mercer County Friday when it plays heat to awesome Trenton High School.

Originally scheduled for the evening, the game will be played at 3:45. A junior varsity game will be played after the varsity contest.

On Monday in the first of eight consecutive road games

"We made too many mistakes mentally," he continued. "We weren't reacting. The hall would be passed and then we would react instead of reacting before. The potential is still there but we weren't crashing the boards or blocking out. That's where we took a beating."

Can't Set Tempo. PHS hopes to win by getting the other team to play its kind of game. But, as Ivan pointed out, PHS has fallen behind in both games, Hunterdon rank 75th of its share in the second quarter to take a 27-16 lead at the half.

"We've been forced to play catch up ball, fighting the clock and it's led to careless fouls," Ivyn said. "If we can set the tempo, we've got a good chance."

PHS was in the contest in the first quarter when Cliff Carter hit for all of his eight points. Bill Evers, high in the opener with 17, had nine points. Ivan reported that Bill took five open shots within the foul circle in the first period and not one went in. "Our shots just wouldn't drop," he said. Kent Bain had five points and Bob Sweeney four. Hunterdon placed four men in double figures.

PDS SET TO RETURN To New England Tourney.
A year ago the Princeton Day hockey team journeyed to the Milton Noble and Greenough tournament and caught the bigger prep schools by surprise. Playing nearly flawless hockey, and setting records in the process, the Panthers won three successive contests against Milton, Kent and Berkshires and captured the championship.

OFF TO DEFEND THEIR TITLE: Coach Harry Rulon-Miller will be counting heavily upon his two co-captains, goalie Tom O'Connor and right wing Sam Rodgers as Princeton Day travels to New England to play in the Milton-Noble and Greenough tournament this weekend. Last year the Panthers were upset winners of the tourney, allowing only one goal in three games to set a tournament record.

Returning to defend it this week the Panthers have lost the element of surprise, making their task just that much harder. They will be the prime target of the seven other teams. Exeter, Hotchkiss, Kent, Kinnelon Union, Orangetown High School, a team from Sweden, and the two host schools.

In its first game, 11 a.m. Friday, the Panthers will face Noble and Greenough on its home ice in Dedham. Exeter, which has whipped both Noble and Milton, probably ranks as PDS's toughest competitor with the team from Sweden an unknown quantity.

With all this ahead of him at the opening of the season, coach Harry Rulon-Miller won't be traveling to New England unprepared. His team has seven returning lettermen out of 11, including co-captains Tom O'Connor in the goal and Sam Rodgers at right wing. Rodgers shared the scoring honors last year.

Joining him on the first line will be lettermen Robbie Holt and left wing and center Art McInnes. Jim Rodgers and Drehs Young gave PDS a big and experienced defense last year, and junior Pete McCandless and sophomore Buzz Woodworth will aim to keep this a Panther asset.

Lucien Yokana will center the second line with lettermen John Moore and John Mittenicht at the wings. Paul Pink is a transfer student this year who proved to be a valuable addition to the football team, and Pete Moore will spell McCandless and Woodworth on defense.

Others on the team, which has more depth than last, include John Gordon, John Loeckette and Alex Laughlin, and Terry Booth, a senior new to the team this year. John Boyd and Dave Barach are competing for the back-up job to O'Connor in the goal.

Practices started November 30 and the team will have a scrimmage with Lawrenceville prior to leaving for the tournament. Its next game will come after the Christmas holidays on Wednesday, January 6, at home against Cranford Hockey Club. If the Panthers can match last year's 14-4 mark, they will have done very well.

HOME OPENER FRIDAY

For Hun Quintet. The Hun School basketball team will play its first home game of the season Friday afternoon at 3:15 when it entertains Morristown Prep.

Hun was scheduled to open its season Wednesday at Toms River High School.

Coach Dave Leele is expected to start Dirk Whitehead in center, Rick Ziegler and Alan Chailfoux, forwards, and Lee Van Horn and Mike Gundagno as guards. Van Horn and Gundagno are co-captains.

"Much improved" was Leele's comment following a final scrimmage last week against Bordentown Prep. "We looked much better than we did previously," he added.

HUN EXITS FROM LEAGUE

In Football. Following a second meeting last week with officials of the Penn-Jersey League, Dave Leele, athletic director and football coach at Hun, reported that Hun "will definitely not be a member of the league next year in football."

Hun agreed to withdraw from the League after smaller schools such as Mitchell Prep and Germantown Friends indicated they wanted to join but did not want to play Hun, which has dominated the league and gone undefeated the past three years. Although it is departing to "find a balance," Hun will continue to play three league teams next fall - Pennington, Perkiomen and George School.

Leele also reported that Hun is still trying to fill an open date on next year's schedule. He had hoped to pick up Lawrenceville School but he said that prospects of adding the Lancers "don't look too good."

Bjorklund Only Tiger Named To All-Ivy Eleven

As far as the rest of the Ivy League coaches could see, there was Hank Bjorklund playing for Princeton's football team last fall . . . and no one else.

The fleet halfback was the only Tiger player named to the All-Ivy team, as the Orange and Black's fifth-place personnel failed to impress in the annual balloting for positions on the all-star squad. Actually, the Princeton junior was named twice as a running back and as the team's punter.

Bjorklund was one of half a dozen unanimous selections, earning that honor on offense with Cornell's Ed Marinaro and Dartmouth's Jim Chasey. Yale's capable sophomore, Dick Jaaron was the fourth back named, but was not a unanimous choice.

The unanimous selections on the defensive platoon were Tom Neville and Rich Lott, Yale tackles, and Willie Boggan, Dartmouth back.

Princeton placed one player (center Kirk Liddell) on the second All-Ivy team on offense and one (end Steve Sikora) on the defensive unit. The Tigers receiving honorable mention were split end Pete Hark and guard Steve Sauer on offense; and Norm Townsend, tackle Carl Barish and linebacker Dennis Burns on defense.

Dartmouth and Yale dominated the first-team selections with six apiece, followed by Harvard with five. Even Columbia, which finished last, won three first-team berths compared to the two which Bjorklund nailed down for the Tigers.

Miss Virginia Minor of Princeton, 18 15, 10 15, 15 6, 15 9.

Miss Edwards is the defending New Jersey champion and is ranked third nationally. Miss Minor, unseeded for the tournament, is not ranked nationally. In her semi-final match, she upset Mrs. Jerome P. Webster Jr. of Princeton, the number four player in the nation, 2 15, 15 11, 15 7, 15 12.

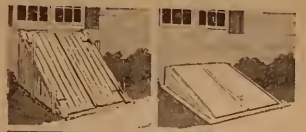

The consolation finals were won by Mrs. Martin Katz of Pennington. She defeated Mrs. Hollis Tognar of Princeton, 15 10, 15 11, 15 8.

In February, the Princeton Women's Squash Racquets Association will host for the first time at Jadwin Gymnasium the National Squash Championships. Entries are expected from throughout the nation and Canada.

Fight now.
Hun has added BMI to replace Princeton Day School which also dropped out of the league.

SEASON STARTS FRIDAY
For PHS Hockey Team, The Princeton High School hockey team will open a 15-game schedule Friday evening at 8 p.m. when it plays host to Cranford. As in the past, all PHS home games will be at the Princeton Day School rink.

Tuesday the Little Tigers will entertain Brick Township at 6:30 and then break for the holidays. They will resume January 7 at Wissahickon.

Co-captains for the Blue and White are John Weber and Steve Sanford. And for the third consecutive year, the team will have a new coach. Eugene Doherty, a teacher at Valley Road School, will coach the team this year, taking over from Dan McGuire who guided the Little Tigers to a 3-4-1 record in his year at the helm.

Others who will do a lot of skating for PHS this winter, according to Doherty, are wings Mark Richards, Jody Delano and Alex Lamar and Scott Marsh and Nick Robinson on defense. He is presently working with a 22-man squad.

Room For Improvement.
Asked about the team's prospects, Doherty replied, "It looks better than I ever thought it would but there still is room for a lot of improvement."

No matter what the season may bring, Doherty and his squad are operating under a tremendous handicap: they have no rink of their own. As a result, the school must purchase ice time from PDS and take what hours it can get. The demand for use of the PDS rink by other schools and skating clubs is extreme.

Last week, PHS had the rink for a total of five hours: from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday; 7:30 to 9:30 Saturday and one hour on Wednesday. Which means if you play hockey at PHS, you have to love the sport.

FOLTYN, ROSSI WIN
At North Hunterdon, Princeton High School won both the first and last bout in its wrestling match Tuesday night with powerful North Hunterdon, but in between the home team methodically cut down ten Little Tigers to win, 43-8. "It went about as expected," said PHS coach Tom Murray.

"They're awfully strong." For North Hunterdon, where they have midweight wrestling teams instead of midweight football teams, it was its opening meet, PHS is 1-1.

Andy Foltyny, a sophomore, had the home town fans squirming when he won a 5-0 decision in the 98-pound class. It was actually his first effort of the season as he won by default in the opener last week.

against Ewing Loudoun Rossi, PHS heavyweight, faced the same battle defeated by one point in the district last March. He had been lying in wait all this time for revenge, but he waited a while longer. Rossi pinned him in the first period. "Murray said."

PHS QUINTEL BEATEN
By Franklin, 32-43. Larry Ivan's plan for his Princeton High School basketball team was to get in front early, so they can set the tempo of play, and to win often enough so it can earn another berth in the SubIAA Tournament. So far, a three tries, it hasn't worked.

The Little Tigers felt he had, 15-6, in the first period Tuesday at Franklin Township, and although they did manage to close within three with two minutes to go, they were forced to play catch up half again. The final score was 32-43, Franklin.

Krist Bann getting stronger, with each game scored 13 points to lead PHS. Bill Evers had 10 and Bob Sweeney and Cliff Carter added eight a piece. The 43 points was Princeton's high for the season.

Forecast Sees Inflation at Annual Rate of 4%

The rate of inflation is expected to remain high and level off at just under 4% per year over the long run, according to forecasts of 137 large financial institutions and non-financial corporations responding to a recent survey sponsored by Princeton University's Financial Research Center.

Stock prices should gain about 7 1/2% per year over the next decade and investing institutions foresee treasury bill and bond rates remaining near the high level they reached earlier in 1970.

These are among highlights of a survey conducted during October and November revealing the anticipations of various large financial institutions and non-financial corporations with respect to future interest rates, stock prices, and the rate of inflation. Results of the study were released this week.

The survey data are being used in ongoing studies concerning the process by which investors make and revise forecasts and the connection between forecasts and market yields, according to Dr. Burton G. Malkiel, Professor of Economics at Princeton. Dr. Malkiel conducted the survey for the University's Financial Research Center with Dr. Edward J. Kane, Professor of Economics at Boston College.

180 of the nation's largest investing institutions. Responses were received from 137, including 56 banks, 45 insurance companies, 29 non-financial corporations and seven securities dealers.

The average forecasts predict that the rate of inflation will be 4 1/2% during the last quarter of 1970, will drop to 4% by the end of 1971, to 3.99% in 1972, and level off at 3.91% over the long run.

Stock prices are expected to gain about 7 1/2% per year through 1980, the respondents reported.

Since dividend yield for stocks in general are now about 3 1/2%, investors are anticipating an over-all return (including both dividends and capital gains) of about 11 1/4%, according to the study. This compares with present yields to maturity of about 8% for high grade long-term corporate bonds and about 6 1/4% for long-term government bonds.

Malkiel and Kane point out, Expected treasury bill yields should rise from 5.75% as of January 1, 1971 to 5.96% in October 1972, according to the averaged forecasts of the 137 respondents. Treasury bond yields are seen dropping from 6.92% as of January 1, 1971 to 6.82% by January 1, 1973.

The expected long-run "normal" yield of treasury bills is forecast at 5.92% on the average, while treasury bonds are predicted to yield 6.71%.

TWO CASES THURSDAY

For Zoning Board. The Borough Zoning Board will hear two applications Thursday evening at 8 in Borough Hall in a meeting moved ahead to a void conflict with the holiday.

Both cases were withdrawn from the board's November meeting at the request of the applicants.

Henry Campbell, 414 Chestnut Street, is seeking approval of front yard parking which is not allowed in the zoning ordinance. Earlier, he had received permission from the board to convert a contractor's shop in the rear of the property to a dwelling with the condition that his parking plans complied with the ordinance.

In effect, the board has already ruled on the question of parking and may decide not to hear his application.

In the other application, Robert Tuschak, owner of Nature's Best, 242 Nassau Street,

P.O. EXTENDS LEASE

At Rocky Hill. The United States Postal Service has renewed its lease for the post office at 150 Washington Street, Rocky Hill, for a five year period.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount has announced that the new lease provides for enlarging the present quarters to include a new platform and mail vestibule. The remodeling, to cost approximately $4,500, is to be completed by March 1, 1971.

NINE ARE FINED

For Speeding. Nine Princeton area drivers were fined for speeding Monday in Borough court by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Obituaries

John W. Hurley, 67, of 52
Maple Street, died December 14 in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia. He owned and operated a paint contracting business in Princeton since 1939.

Born in Princeton, Mr. Hurley lived here all his life.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs.
Helen H. Hurley; two daughters, Mrs. Paul O. Draper and Miss Susan M. Hurley; three sons, William J., John W., and David, all of Princeton; seven grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Charles J. Anderson and Miss Helen H. Hurley, of Princeton.

Requiem high mass will be celebrated this Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Paul's Catholic Church. Interment will be in the parish cemetery under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. Memorial gifts may be made to the United Heart Fund.

Mrs. Pauline M. Rauch, 78, of 185 Spruce Circle, died December 10 in Princeton Hospital after a brief illness. Born in Hoboken, she had lived here for the past 46 years and was a member of the Order of the Shepherds of Bethlehem.

Widow of Charles R. Rauch, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Joseph H. Hunt, Jr. of Palo Alto, Calif., Mrs. Francis S. Davison of Princeton and Mrs. Joseph E. Wilson of Dutch Neck; three sons, Jack C. of Montrose, Calif., Albert S. of Princeton Junction, and Joseph E. of Monmouth Junction; a sister, Mrs. Alice Jacobus of Middlesex; and 20 grandchildren.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. James S. Weaver of the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

NATIVITY PLAY? The poetic play, "Mary Ponders," written by the Rev. Thornton B. Penfield Jr. of Princeton, will be given by the community Players this Sunday at 4 p.m. in Trinity Church and again at 5:30 p.m. in Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church. The final performance will be on Christmas Eve at 8 p.m. in Princeton University Chapel. Abuse are Date Turner and Susan Iyer in the principal roles. The play is narrated by Sylvia Fanjin, and directed by Marguerite McAnany.

News Of The CHURCHES

LESSONS AND CAROLS
At St. Andrew's, The Christ mass festival of lessons and carols will be presented at 7:30 p.m. this Sunday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The 12 voice Madrigal Singers of Dumlouf High School, directed by James Hearl, will open the service with a concert of Christmas anthems and carols. They will join the St. Andrew's choir in an antiphonal carol.

The service combines carols with the reading of the Christmas story from the scriptures. The Rev. F. Hugh Liffman, pastor, and Thomas McBeth, organist and choir director, will lead the service.

SPECIAL MUSIC SET
By Witherspoon Choir. A program of Christmas music will be presented by the choir of Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church at 11 a.m. this Sunday. Owen Gaskins is music director.

The pastor, Rev. Harold Thomas, and Rev. Charles Barlow will offer the Christmas message.

BULLETIN NOTES
Dr. Hartwell F. Calcutt of Aerchem Research Laboratory will discuss "Ethical Problems Resulting From Living on Spaceship Earth" at the 9:30 a.m. meeting of the Asbury Class of Princeton Methodist Church this Sunday. The class is studying the moral issues involved with stewardship of environment. Dr. Calcutt's firm is concerned with detection, measurement, and abatement of pollution. The meeting is open to all.

Christmas observances at Trinity Episcopal Church include the children's pageant at 1 p.m. this Sunday, and festival services of holy communion at 8 and 11 p.m. on Christmas Eve. There will be a holy communion service at 9:30 a.m. on Christmas Day.

Lutheran Church of the Messiah will have Advent services of holy communion at 9 and 11 a.m. this Sunday. There will also be an 11 p.m. service on Christmas Eve and a 10 a.m. service on Christmas Day. On Sunday, December 27, a 9 a.m. service only is scheduled.

First Presbyterian Church plans special Christmas services at 9 and 11:15 a.m. this Sunday, and a family night supper beginning at 6 p.m. Christmas carols and the traditional Christmas pageant will again be a part of the Christmas Eve services, scheduled for 5 to 5:30 p.m. and 10 p.m.

OUR MOST VALUABLE REAL ESTATE IS OUR EARTH

James Harford, Exec. Sec. of Amer. Inst. of Aeronautics & Astronautics, a leading backer of the SST, wrote:

"If I were a Senator . . . I might think hard about approving the $290,000,000 [SST] appropriation if I thought the money and the engineers & technicians were transferable to 1971 technological programs in pollution control, mass transit or another neglected problem."

YET

Robert Simpson, Gen. T.P., Int. Assoc. Machinists & Aerospace Workers, told Tunney hearings a Senate subcommittee study had found little aerospace industry interest in applying resources & skills to "civilian problems" without a firm government contract commitment, although government studies show that the skills employed in 121 of 127 technical & production "occupations" in the aerospace industry are transferable to other activities without major retraining.

189 Constitution Drive

Aptly appointed one and one third acres, this ten-room Colonial with its terrace pool and patio is a noteworthy new listing. The room-size, slate-floored entrance foyer affords access to an opulent step-down living room with decorous white marble faced fireplace and French doors opening to terrace. The gracious and commodious dining room accommodates both many guests and large furniture, its French doors also open to the terrace. The casual den, which is near the front entrance has a small fireplace which emits traditional warmth and conviviality; the "Queen-Size" kitchen has abundant storage and adjoining bright breakfast area.

The upper floor is served by main and auxiliary stairs and contains five bedrooms and three baths; master bedroom suite is separate and has a fireplace. Not to be overlooked is the paneled game room, also with a fireplace; the room-size cedar closet; and the Sylvan Pool which is in the rear court. $120,000

1930's QUALITY OF CONSTRUCTION

1970's CONVENIENCES

Centrally air-conditioned first floor, modern, light and sunny kitchen, fire and burglar alarm system, electric garage door opener — And a four bedroom, three and a half bath house built to last the way they used to build, with the kind of landscaping that takes years to mature! Large dining room, pleasant study, walk up attic with storage as well as living space. Beautifully cared for, of course and so nice to come home to. Asking $65,000 and enter into an era of gracious living when you buy this charming country estate. Partly pre-Revolutionary, partly Victorian in age, the house has been modernized in all the essentials, while still retaining the charm and feeling of a bygone time. Many fireplaces, wide mellow floor boards, beamed ceilings, a gracious front staircase — and a large and lovely home of five bedrooms and four and a half baths. Set on almost thirteen prime acres adjoining the exclusive Bedens Brook Club — with a branch of the brook running through the property. A plus is the three bedrooms, two bath apartment over the separate three car garage — great for guests and in-laws, servants, or as now, for ample rental income. This is a show place, a property to love and cherish for the rest of your life.

TURN YOUR BACK ON TIME

A TRUE CHRISTMAS FOR ALL

This house is a perfect background for the family who cherish the memories of EVERY Christmas. Before lighting the tree and opening the packages in the enormous family room, stop and have breakfast before the big window in the well-arranged kitchen. Time will rush by until the fabulous feast in the pretty dining room with its charming, indirect lighting. Here a pause for a skating party on the nearby lake and back for laughter, talk and coffee before the cheerful fireplace, and so to bed in the three ample bedrooms. A PERFECT DAY — A PERFECT MEMORY. $57,500

PRINCETON HOSPITAL

NOTICE

Qualification for Voting Membership in the Princeton Hospital
Corporation

Notice is hereby given of the requirements for voting membership in the Princeton Hospital Corporation, in accordance with the By-Laws of Princeton Hospital as amended at the annual meeting of the Corporation held on February 25, 1963.

ARTICLE II - VOTING MEMBERSHIP

1. The annual payment by any person of not less than $5.00 directly to the Princeton Hospital Membership Fund during the calendar year preceding the annual election, shall entitle such person to make nominations for the office of Trustee, to one vote for each vacancy in the Board of Trustees which may be filled at any annual meeting, and in vote upon other business which may come before any annual or special meeting of the Corporation during the calendar year of the annual election.

2. The payment by any person of $100.00 or more directly to the Princeton Hospital Membership Fund shall entitle such person to life membership in the corporation and to all other privileges of voting membership without further payment.

3. Notices relative to the membership requirements of the Corporation shall be mailed to all members on or before November 1 of each year.

4. There is no age limitation on membership. In order to be eligible to vote, however, all members, whether annual or life members, must be at least 21 years of age.

This notice is not a solicitation but is published to inform the public of qualifications for voting membership in the Corporation.

By order of the Board of Trustees

AUTO-STROBONAR 332 with rapid charge by Honeywell

The two newest concepts in electronic flash - rapid charge and automatic operation
- make the Auto/Strobonar 332 the most advanced unit on the market today. With the Rapid Charge feature, the 332 delivers about 30 flashes after a 20-minute charge.
After a 3-hour charge, the 332 delivers approximately 100 flashes. Recycle time is about 4 seconds between each flash. The 332 is ready to shoot in minutes after being fully discharged - there's no overnight waiting to charge the unit! You can be assured of a full charge for a roll of film after charging for 20 minutes when the battery state is unknown. Heavy duty capability assures hundreds of pictures in a day if you need them.

ELIZABETH JAMES SAYS.

HUNTERS RUN is a beautiful tract of land rolling, partially wooded with a view from every point. It is a family owned and is a young bunker, Bill Worthington by name.
Following is his family's excellent tradition. Building houses which are imaginatively placed, but sturdily constructed. Each house which has better than an acre of ground, trees, plantings, custom designed. There are 2 houses ready for you to see. Come any time for an "Open House" inspection. The prices range from $45,000 to $60,000 each house individually designed. In addition Bill has agreed to custom build to your desires on land of your own choosing. Call us
